Magic of Habit Sandra Süsser,2021-02-06 Do you know this? As a creative person, you want to be many things: free, happy, successful and more. But somehow you don't get any closer to your ideal. You often don't know exactly what you really want and are pulled by your interests in a thousand directions at once. And when you do commit to one thing, you put off working on it or don't stick to your plans for the long haul. You think you lack discipline. Believe me: I know these hurdles all too well myself. For several years, I suffered from severe depression, didn't know my purpose in life, and kept starting different things without ever really finishing anything. I desperately wanted to make something of myself - to realize my creative potential. But somehow it didn't work and I was totally dissatisfied and didn't really want to live anymore. And yet I managed to turn my life around 180 degrees. I went from an unfocused design student to a successful freelance artist, from a sports slacker to a daily exercising sports enthusiast, and from an insecure and depressed suicidal person to a life enjoyer. I have managed to find my guiding star and realize myself every day anew at work and in my private life. And you can do that too - without taking huge steps, but with the help of small but effective routines and habits. In my book Magic of Habit I have finally gathered all my experience and knowledge and developed a system of three simple steps so that you too can realize your full potential as well - from a creative for creatives. Among other things, you will playfully learn the following: how to find, set and achieve clear goals ✓ how to easily change or build your habits ✓ how to overcome procrastination ✓ how to really stay true to your good resolutions ✓ how to create effective structures, plans and freedom for yourself ✓ how to use routines optimally, especially as a creative person ✓ Use the magic of habit - achieve big change with small steps - and live the life you want. ♥
