Microcomputer Based Flight Data Recorder/Monitor with Solid State Memory ,1978 The design, breadboard implementation and functional testing of a Digital Flight Data Recorder/Monitor prototype is reported. Microcomputer interfacing to Magnetic Bubble Memory and a digital data bus was accomplished. The microcomputer is to be used to collect and analyze flight parameters and record only significant data for later use in an accident investigation or maintenance debriefings for accident prevention. The Magnetic Bubble Memory is the nonvolatile recording media. The digital data bus interface to the IEEE 488 instrument bus will allow operational testing of the recorder on an aircraft equipped with a complete data acquisition system. (Author).

Investigation of aircraft wreckage does not provide crash investigators with adequate information. Crash-protected flight recorder data is invaluable when determining accident cause factors. Inertial navigation systems provide an excellent source of highly accurate flight parameters. Nonvolatile solid state memory is available which can replace failure prone magnetic tape recording in flight recorder systems. Microprocessors are available with the capability of compressing flight data for solid state memory storage. Data compression trials indicate that a flight data recording system using microcomputer preprocessing and nonvolatile solid state memory is feasible.

Design and Construction of a Flight Monitor and Data Recorder Dennis Leland Kane, NAVAL POSTGRADUATE SCHOOL MONTEREY CALIF., 1977 The design and preliminary testing of a microcomputer based flight monitor and data recorder, utilizing magnetic bubble memory, is reported. Component selection, software design and magnetic bubble storage system construction and testing are discussed. Difficulties encountered, both in software and bubble testing are reviewed, with results and remaining work summarized. Magnetic bubble memory technology is reviewed and its potential as a reliable, dense, low cost, non-volatile recording medium is noted. It is proposed that the microprocessor be utilized as a flight monitoring as well as a recording device to detect and report imminent extremis situations.

The RAH-66 Comanche Helicopter Arthur W. Linden, 2021 On December 5, 2003, Lt. Gen Richard

A. Cody, Army Deputy Chief of Staff and an experienced aviator, flew the Comanche. According to the January 2004 issue of National Defense he ...gave the aircraft a stellar review. ...Cody said that the Comanche had 'exceeded his expectations' and was particularly impressed by the rotor system, engine response and control. Cody also reportedly said the aircraft was 'easy to fly' and should be put into the hands of soldiers as soon as possible. Twelve weeks later the program was cancelled. So, what happened? How did Comanche become expendable? How did a program that was originally scheduled to enter Low Rate Initial Production in 1996 get delayed to 2011? How did an aircraft originally designed to replace the Army's light scout/attack fleet grow to become a virtual replacement for the much larger, heavier AH-64 Apache? This is a story of great accomplishment and much frustration. This is the Comanche history, as told by the some of the key members of the Comanche development team--
