Poo, Pee and Paper Geoffrey Kirby, 2020-04-28 Pooing and peeing is now something that we prefer to do in private and not give much thought to unless we are constipated or restricted to close proximity to a toilet due to over enthusiasm in the Indian restaurant the previous evening when drunkenly ordering The hottest dish on the menu!. Once you have flushed the toilet and casually watched the poo, pee and paper slip around the bend you probably don't worry what it is made up of or where it goes next. Skara Brae is a large Neolithic settlement on the Bay of Skail on the Orkney Islands off the north coast of Scotland. It was occupied roughly 5,000 years ago. The dwellings contain some of the earliest examples of flushed indoor toilets. The Babylonian, Minoan and Roman civilisations all had sophisticated toilet systems - many communal. Where better to sit and put the world to rights? Mediaeval castles had their 'Garderobe' toilets which stank so badly that best clothes were hung up in the stench because the moths would not live there. The first mechanically flushed inside toilet was invented in 1596 by Sir John Harington, who was Queen Elizabeth's godson. He installed one in his mansion and another in his Godmother's residence - the first Royal Flush so to speak? And yet, by the middle of the nineteenth century indoor toilets were still a rarity owned only by the rich. Raw sewerage oozing up between the floorboards in slum homes in Dorset was the cause of a deadly cholera epidemic as witnessed by the Rev. Moule in Fordington as he visited his dying parishioners in the 19th century. He saved countless lives by inventing a cheap and effective

'Dry Earth Closet' to collect and store their human waste safely. Public toilets are now being liberated from the 'Gender Binary' so that the full spectrum of LGBTQ+ users are being catered for with new designs of asexual porcelain urinals and pedestals. This fully illustrated book will take the reader on a five-thousand-year exploration of toilet and sewerage history right up to the 'zero gravity' toilet facilities on spacecraft and the liberating funnel devices that enable women to pee standing up.

Paper Made! Kayte Terry, 2012-05-09 Announcing the biggest, best, most innovative book ever on paper craft. Even better, this is not about how to use costly, artsy paper, but how to turn stuff around the house—magazines and shopping bags, candy wrappers and paint sample cards, wrapping paper, old maps, and paper towel tubes—into stunning jewelry, gifts, home decor, party favors, and much more. Chances are you've seen the author's cutting-edge work in the windows of Anthropologie, where she is the chain's merchandising manager. An inveterate crafter who creates projects and styles photo shoots for magazines like Parents and Vogue Knitting, Kayte Terry takes the most versatile of materials and the most basic of crafts (remember snipping valentines out of construction paper?), and creates something completely transformative. Turn a sheaf of any white or graph paper into an amazing Scrap Happy Globe Lantern for the dining room. Fashion colored tissue paper into Songbird Votives, leftover raffle tickets into a Prizewinning Bowl, that out-dated pile of holiday catalogs into a picture frame. There's a necklace made of playing cards, a gum wrapper bracelet, and barrettes made by quilling—a paper technique that goes back to the Renaissance. Every project is photographed in full color, and includes step-by-step illustrations and instructions. Truly a book that shows how to think outside the (cardboard) box.
