Lame Deer, Seeker of Visions Lame Deer, Richard Erdoes, 1994-10 Lame Deer Storyteller, rebel, medicine man, Lame Deer was born almost a century ago on the Rosebud Reservation in South Dakota. A full-blooded Sioux, he was many things in the white man's world -- rodeo clown, painter, prisoner. But, above all, he was a holy man of the Lakota tribe. Seeker of Vision The story he tells is one of harsh youth and reckless manhood, shotgun marriage and divorce, history and folklore as rich today as ever -- and of his fierce struggle to keep pride alive, though living as a stranger in his own ancestral land.

Approaches to Prototyping R. Budde, K. Kuhlenkamp, L. Mathiassen, H. Züllighoven, 2012-12-06
This conference will focus on the user-oriented development of information systems. Against a background of recent concepts for the implementation of distributed systems based on workstation computers, various communicational, organizational and social issues gain increasing importance in the construction of computer based information systems. There is an urgent need to integrate end-users and other affected groups into the development process. New strategies for system development are thus needed. This was the beginning of the Call for Papers to the Working Conference on Prototyping. Working in the fields of user-oriented software construction and the analysis of communication problems between developers and users we, that is the GMD team involved in this conference and in preparing its Proceedings, sooner or later came across various new concepts to overcome the problems sketched above. Concepts focusing on the quick construction of an operative system such as rapid prototyping or concepts aiming at the human and organizational side of the development process such as Systemeering. Even on a second look, the multitude of different approaches, terms and tools still caused confusion. But despite the differences every concept seemed to have something to do with Prototyping. This, however, proved to be of little help to us, because the term Prototyping itself turned out to be quite fuzzy. In this obviously confused situation we decided that it was time for a working conference.

Securing the Future of U.S. Air Transportation

National Research Council, Transportation Research Board, Studies and Information Services, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Aeronautics and Space Engineering Board, Committee on Aeronautics Research and Technology for Vision 2050, 2003-11-18
As recently as the summer of 2001, many travelers were dreading air transportation because of extensive delays associated with undercapacity of the system. That all changed on 9/11, and demand for air transportation has not yet returned to peak levels. Most U.S. airlines continue to struggle for survival, and some have filed for bankruptcy. The situation makes it difficult to argue that strong action is urgently needed to avert a crisis of undercapacity in the air transportation system. This report assesses the visions and goals for U.S. civil aviation and technology goals for the year 2050.
