North American F-86 Sabre Duncan Curtis,2000 This remarkable jet aircraft was the most widely produced postwar American fighter, and it served with distinction as both a fighter and attack aircraft in Korea and a number of other skirmishes around the globe. Illustrated with more than 200 photos, this history fully charts the design, development, and service histories of all Sabre variants.

Twin Mustang Alan C. Carey,2014-02-24 “A comprehensive look at the 272-plane F-82 fleet . . . This is a fine addition to Carey’s body of work and to anyone’s aviation library.”—HistoryNet One of the most unusual and remarkable American fighter aircraft, the F-82 Twin Mustang was the last mass production propeller-driven fighter acquired by the U.S. Air Force. Originally intended as a very long-range fighter escort for the Boeing B-29 Superfortress during World War II, it arrived too late to see combat and evolved into a night and all-weather fighter during the post-war years. Combat operations in the Korean War followed, along with a host of other dynamic episodes of deployment. This work traces the developmental, operational, and combat history of this unique American fighter and features 120 photographs and illustrations, many of which have never been published before. Seven chapters, all extensively illustrated, cover the aircraft’s development, descriptions of the variants and sub-types, details of initial entry into service, three chapters covering the F-82’s service in the Korean War, and a final chapter detailing the type’s removal from the Korean War Theatre in February 1952, to see out its operational days in the Alaskan Air Defense Command. “If you’re an historian like me, you’ll love this book. It lists every F-82 to serve in Korea, every crewman lost in combat, every squadron which used them, and all the pertinent tech details about each version. Photos illustrate the planes from nearly every squadron (if not all) and captions offer in-depth information not included in the text—so they really add value.”—My Hobby Info

North American F-107A William J. Simone,2002 North American's oft-forgotten F-107A remains perhaps the most enigmatic of the famous early Century Series fighters. The enigma stems from the fact that it was an outstanding and extraordinarily effective war-plane and was, perhaps, the best airplane in the world for its particular job at the time of its late 1956 first flight; mysteriously, it was never to go into production, even in light of its superior capabilities. The F-107A scored several firsts. Among them were a truly unique flight control system, an advanced inlet system, and the incorporation of a semi-submerged store. It was also the last of a long line of North American fighters to be built.

North American Sabre Jet Ray Wagner,1998 The second book in the Air Force Legends series is the North American F-86D/K/L Sabre Dog. The importance of this single seat all-weather bomber/interceptor has been always overshadowed by the Korean War vintage F-86A/E/F series of day fighters. Production of F-86D's alone accounted for 2,506 aircraft. Although un-glamorous compared to its day fighter brother, the Dog was responsible for several world speed records. The F-86D/K.L will be covered in two volumes; this, the first, will cover its design, testing, and structures. The second volume will cover squadron service and markings, both foreign and domestic.

The Canadair Sabre Larry Milberry, 1986 The Canadair F-86 Sabre made history by taking control of the skies over Korea and drubbing the MiG-15. Details the daily operations of the Royal Canadian Air Force squadrons of the No. 1 Air Division that flew the Sabre in Europe and Asia.

North American F-86 Sabre Pilot's Flight Operating Instructions United States Air Force, 2010-05 Built as both a fighter-interceptor and fighter-bomber, the F-86 Sabre (sometimes called the Sabrejet) was one of the most widely-produced fighters of the Cold War. In December of 1950, three squadrons of Sabres were rushed into combat in Korea, where they dueled North Korean, Chinese and Russian pilots flying the MiG-15. By the time the war was over, F-86 pilots achieved a stunning victory ratio - destroying nearly 800 enemy aircraft with a loss of only 76 Sabres. The nimble jet also saw combat in the Taiwan Strait Crisis and the Indo-Pakistan Wars of 1965 and 1971. Originally printed by North American and the U.S. Air Force, this F-86E flight operating manual taught pilots everything they needed to know before entering the cockpit. Classified Restricted, the manual was recently declassified and is here reprinted in book form. This facsimile has been reformatted and color images appear in black and white. North American Sabre F-86 Manual Mark Linney, 2011 by Mark Linney The North American F-86 Sabre was the first operational Allied swept-wing transonic jet fighter of the post-war era. It was flown with distinction by the USAF in the Korean War where it was pitted against the Soviet MiG-15. The centrepiece of this Haynes Manual is Golden Apple Operations F-86A, 48-178 the sole-surviving airworthy example of the first production A model, as well as being the world's oldest flying jet-powered aircraft.

Famous Air Force Fighters George Sullivan, 1985 Summary: Traces the development of Air Force aviation by examining specific types of fighter planes.

American Aviation Icons 1 Theodore Gianna, 2022-07-08 The F-100 Super Sabre, was the first of the elite jets; the famous 'Century Series'. It was also America's first jet to enter the Vietnam War, where it performed well as a close support fighter-bomber. This book offers a concise history of the F-100 Super Sabre, and describes the different variants. There is also a section in the book which recounts some of the more important operations that the Super Sabre performed in the Vietnam conflict, like the 'Wild Weasel' operations, and the 'Misty' 'Forward Air Control' (FAC) operations. The book also includes over 40 paint schemes of the aircraft, and it is mainly composed of color photos of the F-100 Super Sabre. Maybe the 'Hun', as the jet was nicknamed, was not the perfect jet fighter, but it broke several records throughout its illustrious service life, and it will forever be remembered for being the first jet in the world to break the sonic barrier in level flight. No one can ever take that away from the 'HUN'.
