The Korean Automotive Industry, Volume 1 A. J. Jacobs, 2021-12-10 In 1962, South Korea assembled just 1,100 new automobiles. By 1996, this total had soared to 2,812,714. What explains this remarkable growth? The answer is complex, and involves a combination of a supportive State, timely technology alliances, a skilled but historically low-paid workforce, aggressive pricing, savvy entrepreneurs, and fortuitous circumstances. Despite this amazing ascent, comparatively little has been written about the Korean auto industry in English. In the first of a two-volume set, this 11-chapter book seeks to help fill this void by providing in-depth examinations of all six of Korea's automakers from their beginnings through 1996. Uniquely written from the perspective of industry analysts at the time (without knowledge of the Asian Fiscal Crisis), the book should prove informative to practitioners, scholars, and students interested in automotive history, international political economy, Asian studies, and more.

Hands-On Vision and Behavior for Self-Driving Cars Luca Venturi, Krisstof Korda, 2020-10-23 A practical guide to learning visual perception for self-driving cars for computer vision and autonomous system engineers Key Features Explore the building blocks of the visual perception system in self-driving cars Identify objects and lanes to define the boundary of driving surfaces using open-source tools like OpenCV and Python Improve the object detection and classification capabilities of systems with the help of neural networks Book Description The visual perception capabilities of a self-driving car are powered by computer vision. The work relating to self-driving cars can be broadly classified into three components - robotics, computer vision, and machine learning. This book provides existing computer vision engineers and developers with the unique opportunity to be associated with this booming field. You will learn about computer vision, deep learning, and depth perception applied to driverless cars. The book provides a structured and thorough introduction, as making a real self-driving car is a huge cross-functional effort. As you progress, you will cover relevant cases with working code, before going on to understand how to use OpenCV, TensorFlow and Keras to analyze video streaming from car cameras. Later, you will learn how to interpret and make the most of lidars (light detection and ranging) to identify obstacles and localize your position. You'll even be able to tackle core challenges in self-driving cars such as finding lanes, detecting pedestrian and crossing lights, performing semantic segmentation, and writing a PID controller. By the end of this book, you'll be equipped with the skills you need to write code for a self-driving car running in a driverless car simulator, and be able to tackle various challenges faced by autonomous car engineers. What you will learn

- Understand how to perform camera calibration
- Become well-versed with how lane detection works in self-driving cars using OpenCV
- Explore behavioral cloning by self-driving in a video-game simulator
- Get to grips with using lidars
- Discover how to configure the controls for autonomous vehicles
- Use object detection and semantic segmentation to locate lanes, cars, and pedestrians
- Write a PID controller to control a self-driving car running in a simulator

Who this book is for This book is for software engineers who are interested in learning about technologies that drive the autonomous car revolution. Although basic knowledge of computer vision and Python programming is required, prior knowledge of advanced deep learning and how to use sensors (lidar) is not needed.

Globalization or Regionalization of the American and Asian Car Industry? M.

Freyssenet,K. Shimizu,G. Volpato,2003-01-01 The automobile sector is one of the most archetypal global industries and is seen by many as one of the main drivers behind the homogenisation of world markets due to firms' internationalization strategies and the social practices that firms impose. This book argues that this is not entirely the case due to the heterogeneity of firms and the diversity of strategies pursued. It highlights the diversity and forms of internationalization and the preference for regionalization rather than globalization that has occurred over the past decade. This book looks specifically at the American and Asian car industry.
