Building the Yellow Wall Uli Hesse,2018-08-23 The definitive story of the rise of Borussia

Dortmund Towards the beginning of the twenty-first century, Borussia Dortmund were on the verge of going out of business. Now they are an international phenomenon - one of the most popular clubs and fastest-growing football brands in the world. Every fortnight, an incredible number of foreigners eschew their own clubs and domestic leagues and travel to Dortmund to watch football, while people from all corners of the world dream of doing the same - of standing on the largest terrace in the world, the Yellow Wall. How did this happen? How could a club that hasn't won a European trophy in twenty years so thoroughly capture people's imaginations? Building the Yellow Wall tells the story of Dortmund's roller-coaster ride from humble beginnings and lean decades to the revolution under Jürgen Klopp and subsequent amazing success and popularity. But it also tells the story of those people who have done as much for the club's profile as any player, coach or chairman - Dortmund's unique supporters.

Ballspielverein Borussia, BVB, or simply Dortmund, is a German professional sports club based in Dortmund, North Rhine-Westphalia. It is best known for its men's professional football team, which plays in the Bundesliga, the top tier of the German football league system. The club have won eight league championships, four DFB-Pokals, one UEFA Champions League, one Intercontinental Cup, and one UEFA Cup Winners' Cup. Founded in 1909 by eighteen football players from Dortmund, the football team is part of a large membership-based sports club with more than 145,000 members, [4] making Borussia Dortmund the second largest sports club by membership in Germany. Since 1974, Dortmund have played their home games at Westfalenstadion; the stadium is the largest in Germany, and Dortmund has the highest average attendance of any association football club in the world. Borussia Dortmund's colours are black and yellow, giving the club its nickname die Schwarzgelben. The club has active departments in other sports, namely in women's handball, and hold a long-standing rivalry with Ruhr neighbours Schalke 04, known as the Revierderby. They also compete in Der Klassiker with fellow German club, Bayern Munich. In terms of Deloitte's annual Football Money League, Dortmund was ranked as the second richest sports club in Germany, and the 12th richest football team in the world. Moreover, under the directorship of Michael Zorc in the 2010s, Dortmund have cultivated a reputation for spotting and developing young talent, and have remained focused on developing a youth system. They have also received plaudits for generally adhering to an attacking footballing philosophy.

The internationalization of professional football clubs. Potential markets and the brand personality of Borussia Dortmund Christian Weißkopf, 2020-08-05 Master's Thesis from the year 2020 in the subject Business economics - Business Management, Corporate Governance, grade: 1,3, University of Applied Sciences Dortmund, language: English, abstract: The ongoing professionalization and commercialization of football, as the logical consequence of the constantly increasing financing need of today's football clubs, constitutes a topic of high interest within the current media landscape and society. This phenomenon is especially valid for the leading clubs of the big five European football leagues. Considering that further growth opportunities in their respective domestic, mainly saturated markets are limited, most of these clubs strengthened their efforts of expanding their business activities into new foreign markets in recent years. In this context, it seems that the assessment and selection of potential foreign markets are mainly based on the potential fanbase which causes a situation in which the internationalization path of leading European football clubs appears to be relatively similar and mapped out to a large degree. Due to this fact and the non-perceptibility of a systematical assessment and selection procedure, this thesis examined the attractiveness of current and prospective markets by means of deductive analysis. The results confirmed the general assumption of the high importance of socio-economic conditions as a significant determining factor for assessing the attractiveness of prospective new foreign markets. Based on these findings, the thesis provides a ranking of the top non-UEFA member markets which could demonstrate deviations between the actual target markets of European football clubs and the results of the ranking. Furthermore, as the internationalization of a professional football club implies also the extension of a club's brand management and marketing activities, the thesis contains an empirical study on the perception of the brand Borussia Dortmund within international markets. In accordance with global marketing literature which states that cultural differences have the potential to notably affect consumer perception of foreign brands, the study was able to confirm this assumption. The results based on the brand identity and personality of Borussia Dortmund provided clear indications that deviations on the perception can be linked to and explained by cultural differences. Consequently, these findings could serve as the basis for possible adaptations on the brand identity for being able to exploit commercial potentials in new foreign markets in a more effective and efficient way.

Professional football clubs. The internationalisation of Borussia Dortmund GmbH & Co. KGaA
Christian Weißkopf, 2022-03-09 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2018 in the subject Business economics - Business Management, Corporate Governance, grade: 1,3-1,7, University of Applied Sciences Dortmund, language: English, abstract: Football has long been the most popular sport in the world, regardless of whether it is played actively or as a passive participant as a spectator or fan. However, the importance of football is also increasing economically. In Germany alone, the professional football system has grown faster than most industries and about ten times faster than Germany as a whole, with real annual growth of 6.1 percent since 2008. The reason for this development is the constantly increasing competition between the clubs. The peculiarity of the so-called hyperactivity in sport and especially in football and the resulting incentive to overinvest leads to an increasing tendency towards commercialization. The clubs are increasingly countering the near saturation of the European home markets with a systematic expansion of their business activities into, for them, new international markets. The fundamental potential of internationalization faces challenges and questions of strategy development and implementation on the management side. Starting with the fundamental decision to start cross-border activities, through the choice of market entry and market development forms, to the effects on the overall corporate strategy and possible adjustments to the organizational structure. This work is therefore dedicated to the question of how far strategic approaches, especially from the areas of strategic and international management, are already being used in practice. It is examined which established concepts and theories could be part of a possible strategy development process and, following on from this, which possible adjustments to the special features of professional football clubs are necessary. The goal is to work out and show the management tasks, challenges and focal points as examples, in order to then present individual levels and issues in the analysis and strategy development process from the management's point of view.

Reading The Game Moritz Rinke, 2015-11-26 The writers' team – Autonomia for short – has created a written testament to their affinity and relationship with Borussia Dortmund. A different writer from the team was invited to each BVB home game in – as The Times describes it – the “best stadium in Europe”. Yet as the season began, no one could have predicted what was in store: memorable Champions League evenings, an inexplicable Götterdämmerung in the league, a bleak midwinter spent in the relegation zone, the shock against Augsburg, an exhilarating derby win, Jürgen Klopp's resignation, the league comeback, the peculiar cup semi-final against Bayern Munich, and the dream of lifting the DFB-Cup and finishing off the season in style celebrating on Borsigplatz, the public space that is the team's spiritual home. The Autonomia, who were crowned European champions in Dortmund in 2010 at the Rote Erde stadium, accompanied the black and yellows, die Schwarzgelben as German fans know them, on perhaps the oddest – certainly the most memorable – season in the club's history: cheering them along, loving them, suffering with them, and in a sense playing every game with them as well. “Juve were playing imperiously this evening, the Dortmund team in contrast in the same way I imagine the Greek democracies in their final twilight: tired, indecisive, and far too conscious of their own deficiencies. The melancholy way Sokratis lost possession ...” - Simon Roloff Matchdays Ronald Reng, 2015-04-09 The enormous success of German football is envied around the world. The national team won the 2014 World Cup in style, while the Bundesliga offers an alternative model through its fan-friendly set-up, terraces and low ticket prices. In Matchdays: The Hidden Story of the Bundesliga, award-winning author Ronald Reng takes a unique approach to explain the history and peculiarities of German football. He follows the tracks of a journeyman footballer, Heinz Hoher, who has been in the Bundesliga all his life, from the first day of its existence in 1963 until now, as a player, manager, sports director and youth coach. We see through Hoher's story the wider picture of how German football, and even German society, developed from the ruins of the Nazi era to become the football and economic powerhouse of today. Born in 1939, Hoher became the small-town hero of Bayer 04 Leverkusen, a stylish winger and the first to let his hair grow like the Beatles. He witnessed the big match-fixing affairs of the seventies, fought in vain the temptations of so many managers - alcohol and gambling - and realised that, even at 75, his real addiction is still the game. Matchdays does for German football what David Winner's Brilliant Orange did for Dutch football.

Thomas Tuchel Daniel Meuren,Tobias Schächter,2021-09-30 Absorbing. An essential primer for Chelsea fans and a warning to everyone who isn't a Chelsea fan. – Daniel Finkelstein Daniel and Tobias were on the Tuchel train from the beginning and they give you the full story of one of the most fascinating coaches in the game. Instructive and revealing for the novice and with plenty of freshness for seasoned Tuchel watchers too. A very satisfying read. – Andy Brassell, The Football Ramble podcast  When Thomas Tuchel arrived at Chelsea in January 2021, having been unceremoniously sacked by PSG, few could imagine that a mere four months later he would be leading the Blues to victory in the UEFA Champions League final. Tuchel inherited a misfiring Chelsea side that he quickly galvanised with his exciting attacking style and brilliant tactical thinking. But who is Thomas Tuchel? Fans of his former clubs PSG, Borussia Dortmund and Mainz would describe him as one of the best football managers in the world. An innovator, tactician, rulebreaker and sometimes controversialist, Tuchel went from a youth manager with Mainz to the top of the Bundesliga with Dortmund in just five years. He has identified and nurtured rising talents, such as André Schürrle and Christian Pulisic, and has also managed dressing rooms full of superstars, including Neymar and Kylian Mbappé. This is the definitive story of Thomas Tuchel: from his early days as an academy player at Augsburg and as a young manager at Mainz, to his successful but conflict-laden stint at Dortmund, his bittersweet tenure at PSG and finally his arrival mid-season at Chelsea. Compelling and revealing, Thomas Tuchel: Rulebreaker provides a fascinating insight into the life and mind of one of the most exciting coaching talents in football today.

Corporate Identity und Corporate Communications des Fußballvereins Borussia Dortmund Max Kemper,2018-08-14 Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2018 im Fachbereich BWL - Marketing, Unternehmenskommunikation, CRM, Marktforschung, Social Media, Note: 1,7, FOM Essen, Hochschule für Oekonomie & Management gemeinnützige GmbH, Hochschulleitung Essen früher Fachhochschule, Sprache: Deutsch, Abstract: Zunehmender Wettbewerb, austauschbare Produkte und steigende Markeninflation verschärfen die Situation auf den Märkten. In einem verschärften Wettbewerb ist Corporate Identity nicht mehr Luxus für Organisationen und Unternehmen, sondern eine Notwendigkeit, um sich durch Markenbildung eine besondere Identität zu schaffen und sich auf Märkten zu etablieren. Essentielle Voraussetzungen für den Erfolg eines Unternehmens sind ein gutes Image und eine starke Identität. Ein Corporate Identity Management sorgt dafür, dass Stakeholder, vor allem die Kunden, das Unternehmen bemerken, sich an dieses erinnern und dieses bevorzugen. Die

Stakeholder erfahren dadurch, auf welchen Werten und Normen die unternehmerische Tätigkeit beruht. Dadurch können sich die Stakeholder sensibilisieren und entscheiden, ob sie diese Tätigkeit unterstützen oder nicht. Der Fußballverein Borussia Dortmund (BVB) verfolgt das Ziel, die Marke Borussia Dortmund wertvoller zu machen. Der BVB soll unabhängig von Höhen und Tiefen des sportlichen Erfolgs einen Platz im Herzen seiner Fans einnehmen. Diese Arbeit beschäftigt sich mit der Frage, mit welchen Instrumenten der Corporate Identity es dem BVB während des Champions-League Finales 2013 in London gelungen ist, sich als markenstarker Club zu präsentieren und ihrer Marke eine starke Identität zu geben.
