The Man Who Changed Everything Basil Mahon,2004-10-15 This is the first biography in twenty years of James Clerk Maxwell, one of the greatest scientists of our time and yet a man relatively unknown to the wider public. Approaching science with a freshness unbound by convention or previous expectations, he produced some of the most original scientific thinking of the nineteenth century — and his discoveries went on to shape the twentieth century.

Classic monsters are primarily the creatures of legend, touched by the supernatural or created by the madness of men who venture where no man should go, the good old monsters who lurked in gloomy settings of Central European villages, ancient castles and tombs, moulding mansions and stone laboratories filled with mazes of bewildering equipment and sounds of humming of electricity, in dark nights and violent storms. The Barbed Coil J. V. Jones, 2000-12-15 Tessa McCamfrey, young and rootless resident of Southern California, has never found much in life that interests her. All of that changes when she stumbles upon a ring that transports her to a distant time and place. There she discovers her unexpected talent: She can create luminous, magical illustrations that have the power to influence others' lives. She becomes involved in the fate of kingdoms when her power is brought to bear against an evil king whose mind has been taken over by a golden crown called the Barbed Coil. As in The Book of Words trilogy, J. V. (Julie) Jones imbues every one of her characters with personality, from the dashing mercenary Ravis, who becomes Tessa's protector in this strange new world, to the sailors, innkeepers, soldiers, and others who populate her lush, involving story.

A Changed Man Frank Penwright,2001-06 An enraged New York mob boss sends hit men to find a seaman who killed his son in a barrom fight. One demented killer in particular leads the chase over land and sea to hunt down the Able Bodied Seaman. They both know the boss's son was killed in self defense, but that doesn't seem to matter. Throughout the chase the gullible seaman changes and primitive survival instincts surface. The final confrontation takes place in India where a balance of power is established and a metaphysical force takes over to make the necessary inevitable changes.
