Yokosuka D4Y 'Judy' Units Mark

Chambers,2021-09-16 In 1938, the Yokosuka Naval Air Technical Arsenal, acting under the requirements issued by the Kaigun Koku Hombu for a Navy Experimental 13-Shi Carrier Borne specification for a dive-bomber to replace the venerable 'Val' aboard carriers. The resulting D4Y Suisei ('Comet'), codenamed 'Judy' by the Allies, was initially powered by a licence-built German Daimler-Benz DB 601 inline engine as used in the Bf 109E. Despite making an inauspicious combat debut during the Battle of Midway in June 1942, the 'Judy' eventually proved to be an important asset for the IJNAF during battles in the latter years of the Pacific War. Its great successes resulted in the sinking of the escort carrier USS Princeton in an early kamikaze attack off the Philippines and the near sinking of the fleet carrier USS Franklin in a dive-bombing attack off Japan. While the Judy had an impressive top-speed, like its predecessor, and many other Japanese military aircraft, it possessed design shortcomings including inadequate armour protection for its aircrew and no self-sealing fuel tanks. As a result, when pitted against new, advanced US Navy fighters suffered horrendous losses. During the final months of World War 2 it became apparent that there would be no Japanese victory. Acting out of desperation, the IJNAF employed the 'Judy' in the dreaded kamikaze role, in which it excelled due to its high-speed characteristics. Most notably, the D4Y mounted one of the last combat actions of World War 2 when a flight of 11 Judies, personally led by the instigator of the suicide attacks, Vice Admiral Matome Ugaki, took off on a 'search mission' on August 15, 1945. This volume chronicles the action-packed wartime exploits of Japan's finest dive-bomber of World War 2.

The Setting of the Rising Sun Terry C.

Treadwell, 2010-12-15 The first complete history of Japanese military aviation from its beginnings until 1945.

Wings of the Rising Sun Mark Chambers, 2018-11-29

In the Pacific War's early years, Japanese air power was dominant. The only way for the Allies to defeat their enemy was to know it. This made the task of maintaining productive intelligence gathering efforts on Japan imperative. Establishing Technical Air Intelligence Units in the Pacific Theatre and the Technical Air Intelligence Center in Washington DC, the Allies were able to begin to reveal the secrets of Japanese air power through extensive flight testing and evaluation of captured enemy aircraft and equipment. These provided an illuminating perspective on Japanese aircraft and aerial weapon design philosophy and manufacturing practice. Fully illustrated throughout with a wealth of previously unpublished photographs, Mark Chambers explores Allied efforts to evaluate the strengths and weaknesses of Japanese air power during the war years, and how this intelligence helped them achieve victory in the Pacific.

Foundations of Statistical Inference Yoel Haitovsky, Hans Rudolf Lerche, Ya'acov Ritov, 2003-05-22 This volume is a compressed survey containing recent results on statistics of stochastic processes and on identification with incomplete observations. It comprises a collection of papers presented at the Shores Conference 2000 on the Foundation of Statistical Inference. The papers cover the following areas with high research activity: - Identification with Incomplete Observations, Data Mining, - Bayesian Methods and Modelling, - Testing, Goodness of Fit and Randomness, - Statistics of Stationary Processes.

Боевые самолеты Второй Мировой Андрей

Харук, 2022-04-16 Уникальная ЦВЕТНАЯ энциклопедия боевой авиации Второй Мировой войны, в ходе которой ВВС впервые стали стратегическим оружием, – без господства в воздухе не было бы ни гитлеровского Блицкрига, ни «Десяти Сталинских ударов», ни морских побед союзников. Всё об истребителях, бомбардировщиках, штурмовиках и торпедоносцах 16 стран – как великих авиадержав (Великобритании, Германии, Италии, СССР, США, Франции, Японии), так и второстепенных (Австралии, Аргентины, Нидерландов, Польши, Румынии, Финляндии, Чехословакии, Швеции, Югославии). Исчерпывающие сведения о 250 типах самолетов – от архаичных бипланов до новейших реактивных машин, от легких одноместных до тяжелых 4-моторных гигантов, как сухопутного базирования, так и палубных, не только массовых, но и малосерийных. Колоссальный объем информации, увеличенный формат, цветная элитная полиграфия, более 1500 схем, чертежей и фотографий на мелованной бумаге высшего качества – этот фундаментальный труд не имеет себе равных!

I-400 Henry Sakaida, Gary Nila, Koji Takaki, 2006
The Japanese I-400 'super submarine' was one of the most monstrous creations of World War Two, designed with the intention of attacking American cities and destroying the Panama Canal. This book looks at the development of the I-400, as well as featuring the officers and crew who sailed on the massive craft.

Air Combat 1945 Donald Nijboer, 2015-09-15 The final year of World War II witnessed the decline of the piston-engine fighter and the beginning of the jet age. Taking to the skies were tried-and-true fighters, improved versions of old aircraft, and newly developed jets, including prototypes that flew for the first time just before the war ended. • Hundreds of photos chronicle these dynamic aircraft in Europe and the Pacific • Includes American Mustangs, Thunderbolts, and

Shooting Stars; British Tempests, Spitfires, and Gloster Meteors; German Fw 190s, Bf 109Ks, and Messerschmitt Me 262s; Japanese Ki 100s, Raidens, and Tojos; and many more • Ideal reference for military history fans, scholars, and modelers

The Rise and Fall of the Japanese Imperial Naval Air Service Peter J. Edwards, 2010-11-20 This book describes in considerable detail the people, events ships and aircraft that shaped the Air Service from its origins in the late 19th century to its demise in 1945. The formative years began when a British Naval Mission was established in Japan in 1867 to advise on the development of balloons for naval purposes. After the first successful flights of fixed-wing aircraft in the USA and Europe, the Japanese navy sent several officers to train in Europe as pilots and imported a steady stream of new models to evaluate. During World War One Japan became allied with the UK and played a significant part in keeping the German fleets of ships and submarines at bay in the Pacific and Indian Oceans. However, in the international naval treaties that followed they felt betrayed, since the number of capital ships, battleships and cruisers, that they were allowed was below those of the USA and the UK. Aircraft carriers were not included, so a program of carrier building was started and continued until World War Two. At the same time they developed an aircraft industry and at the beginning of war their airplanes were comparable, and in some instances superior, to those of the British and Americans. Much prewar experience was gained during Japans invasion of China, but their continued anger with America festered and resulted in their becoming allied with Germany, Italy and the Vichy France during World War Two. There followed massive successful attacks on Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, the Southern Islands, Port Darwin and New Guinea. The British were decimated and the USA recoiled at the onslaught, taking over a year to regroup and take the war to the Imperial Japanese forces. Throughout the conflict many sea battles were fought and the name Zero became legendary. When Japan eventually capitulated after the Atomic bombs were dropped the Japanese Imperial Air Service was disbanded.

Fighters of the Dying Sun Justo

Miranda, 2021-07-11 The first B-29 flew over Tokyo on 1 November 1944. It was a photographic reconnaissance aircraft ironically named 'Tokyo Rose'. The Ki-44 fighters of the 47th Sentai took off to intercept it but as it turned out the Superfortress flew at such an altitude and speed that they could not reach it. The Ki-44-II-Otsu had been specifically designed for this type of interception and could reach the astonishing rate of climb of 5,000 m in four minutes; however it was not good enough. During the following ten months, a devastating bombing campaign of thousands of Superfortress destroyed 67 Japanese cities and half of Tokyo. The cultural shock and the political consequences were huge, when it was realised that the Japanese industry was not able to produce the specially heat and stress-resistant metallic alloys that were required to manufacture the turbo superchargers needed by the fighters in charge of defending the Japanese mainland. They lacked the essential chromium and molybdenum metals to harden the steel. This fact thwarted the manufacturing of numerous advanced projects of both conventional fighters and those derived from the transfer of German technology fitted with turbojets and rocket engines. They are thoroughly described in this book.
