Dca to Lga Richard Severen,2017-10-26 Terrorists disguised as airport caterers plant a bomb in the forward trash receptacle of scheduled commercial flight from Washington DC's Reagan Airport to New York LaGuardia. The Senate Majority Leader, a famous former Congressman, and an Air Marshall are aboard. A flight attendant on board is part of the plot to ensure that there are no witnesses or survivors. Facing certain death, Mike Boswell, the passenger in seat 16-E, relives his life during his final moments. He was traveling home to pick up his 11 year old son for the weekend. But Mike Boswell, if anything, is a resourceful man who has lived a tragic as well as a charmed life. The illegitimate son of an early teen idol rock star, Mike has lived through scarier situations than this and is determined to find a way to survive. DCA to LGA is based on the true life story of a man, famous in the media research business, fictionalized as Mike Boswell. He meets with 1,000's of people every year yet has kept his personal life an enigma... a trait carried on by his second-oldest daughter working undercover in Hong Kong. Has it always been the hand of God that has protected him before? The Little Red Zucchetto Society? Samuel Bedford, Mike's puppet-master? Synchronicity? Mike's life-experiences and sheer dumb luck? With the plane in flames and going down Mike Boswell is determined to the very end to find a way to get home to his 11 year old son.

DCA Dosimetry: Interpreting DCA- Induced Liver Cancer Dose Response and the Potential for DCA to Contribute to TCE-Induced Liver Cancer ,1998 The contribution of TCE-derived DCA to the induction of hepatocellular carcinoma in the mouse liver bioassay has been a pivotal issue in assessing the risk associated with oral exposure to TCE. The goal of this study was to investigate the biological plausibility of the hypothesis that TCE-derived DCA contributed significantly to TCE-induced mouse liver cancer. A pharmacokinetic analysis for DCA in naive and DCA-pretreated mice has been conducted in order to interpret the chronic bioassay liver tumorigenicity results for DCA and to evaluate the potential involvement of DCA in liver carcinogenicity induced by TCE. A physiologically motivated two-compartment model with liver and a body compartment was used to estimate the volume of distribution and the kinetic parameters for metabolic clearance by the liver. Analysis of the data confirm that there is a very large first pass metabolic clearance of DCA by the liver and that the metabolism is significantly inhibited by exposure to high doses of DCA. Most chronic drinking water studies with DCA have been conducted at concentrations of 1 to 5 g/L. At these doses inhibition of metabolism occurs rapidly relative to the length of the bioassay. Large increases in tumor incidence that have been observed at these doses correlate with increasing AUCL for the parent compound (DCA) that occurs as a consequence of saturation of its metabolism. The AUCL for TCE-derived DCA is similar to that estimated for the 0.05 g/L DCA drinking water exposure which was not associated with an increase in the prevalence of liver cancer.
