

Delphinus

Daniel Giraud Elliot

Delphinus Anita Marasco Maier,2001-02 Interspecies evolution brings Dolphins and Humans together in a story of great love, to save the planet and begin a journey to Higher Consciousness. A pair of Dolphins and a Human couple are told they would each have a baby who would help save the world. The babies are birthed underwater together and grow up as brothers. When boats take away the dolphin, the Human searches until he finds him at Delphinus Labs As the two rejoin they begin to evolve into half Human/half Dolphin forms. Word gets out. The government hears of aliens and a battle ensues. Join in the exciting journeys of the characters in this inspirational story. See how the planet and it's inhabitants are saved and find yourself on your own spiritual awakening.

The Delphinus Chronicles R. G. Roane,1998 Simon, the world's most powerful supercomputer, is sent to San Diego to learn to communicate with humans--but humans aren't the only intelligent species inhabiting Southern California. The Delphinus Chronicles--be careful what you ask...for you may not like the answer.

Delphinus ,

Delphinus Michael Kingswood, Piter's honeymoon was off to a splendid start. He and his bride had a fancy bridal suite on a luxury spaceliner, and had their own private view of the most beautiful aurora in the known galaxy. Then it all went to hell. Narrowly escaping the spaceliner's destruction in a cargo shuttle, he, his bride, and five others crash onto an un-colonized moon, where they have to figure out how to survive until the rescue comes. Assuming it ever does. Delphinus is a 9,700 word science fiction adventure.

Ecosystem Survey of Delphinus Species Cruise Report Susan J. Chivers,Wayne L. Perryman,Nicholas M. Kellar,James V. Carretta,Frederick Ivan Archer,Jessica Veneris Redfern,Annette Elizabeth Henry,Morgan S. Lynn,Candice Hall,Alan Robert Jackson,Gabriela Serra-Valente,Thomas J. Moore,Claire Surrey-Marsden,Lisa Taylor Ballance,2010 The 'Ecosystem Survey of Delphinus Species' research survey focused on the two species of common dolphin, Delphinus delphis and D. capensis, found off southern California, USA, and Baja California, Mexico. The primary objective was to provide information to improve conservation and management plans for these species. The project used a multidisciplinary approach. For both Delphinus species, data were collected to estimate abundance, pregnancy and birth rates, timing of reproduction, gene flow, and contaminant concentrations. Oceanographic data were collected to characterize habitat, and data on distribution and abundance of seabirds, prey fishes, and squids were collected to further characterize the ecosystem in which these dolphins live. Photographs of dolphin schools were taken from a NOAA Twin Otter aircraft while the survey was being conducted. The aerial photographs will provide count and measurement data to calibrate observer estimates of school size and to estimate timing of reproduction and birth rates. This research will facilitate understanding population demography of these species in an ecosystem framework. Essential information about the primary focal species, D. capensis, will greatly increase our knowledge about this coastal species and the geographic extent of a Mexico-U.S. transboundary stock. For additional information about the Delphinus cruise, please see <http://swfsc.noaa.gov/prd-delphinus.aspx> --Cruise description.
