A Doric Dictionary Douglas Kynoch, 2020-04-11 What's the difference between a meggie-monyfeet and a hornie-gollach? Between snap-an-rattle and murly-tuck? All is explained in the Doric Dictionary. It is a two-way lexicon of words and phrases drawn from the former Banffshire in the North through Aberdeenshire to the Mearns and North Angus and drawn from the published works of most the North-east's best-known writers of the 19th and 20th centuries. As the writer says in his foreword, 'There is not one monolithic form of Doric but a multiplicity of forms; and words can change not only from county to county but from village to village'. The Dictionary contains no fewer than eight variants of the term for a seagull. This new version (2018) is enhanced by a most stimulating injection of Buchan vocabulary drawn from W. P. Milne's historical novel, Eppie Elrick.

Doric J. Derrick McClure, 2002-09-27 The dialect of North-East Scotland, one of the most distinctive and best preserved in the country, survives as both a proudly maintained mark of local identity and the vehicle for a remarkable regional literature. The present study, after placing the dialect in its historical, geographical and social context, discusses in some detail a selection of previous accounts of its distinctive characteristics of phonology and grammar, showing that its shibboleths have been well recognised, and have remained consistent, over a long period. Passages of recorded speech are then examined, with extensive use of phonetic transcription. Finally, a representative selection of written texts, dating from the eighteenth century to the present and illustrating a wide variety of styles and genres, are presented with detailed annotations. A full glossary is also included. This study clearly demonstrates both the individuality of the dialect and the richness of the local culture of which it is an integral part.

Experimental IR Meets Multilinguality, Multimodality, and Interaction

Alberto Barrón-Cedeño, Giovanni Da San Martino, Mirko Degli Esposti, Fabrizio Sebastiani, Craig Macdonald, Gabriella Pasi, Allan Hanbury, Martin Potthast, Guglielmo Faggioli, Nicola Ferro, 2022-08-24 This book constitutes the refereed proceedings of the 13th International Conference of the CLEF Association, CLEF 2022, held in Bologna, Italy in September 2022. The conference has a clear focus on experimental information retrieval with special attention to the challenges of multimodality, multilinguality, and interactive search ranging from unstructured to semi structures and structured data. The 7 full papers presented together with 3 short papers in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 14 submissions. This year, the contributions addressed the following challenges: authorship attribution, fake news detection and news tracking, noise-detection in automatically transferred relevance judgments, impact of online education on children's conversational search behavior, analysis of multi-modal social media content, knowledge graphs for sensitivity identification, a fusion of deep learning and logic rules for sentiment analysis, medical concept

normalization and domain-specific information extraction. In addition to this, the volume presents 7 “best of the labs” papers which were reviewed as full paper submissions with the same review criteria. 14 lab overview papers were accepted and represent scientific challenges based on new datasets and real world problems in multimodal and multilingual information access.

The Love Archetype Javier Angola, 2020-09-03 Literature and philosophy what are these magical fantasies, so superior and everlasting. Without love or being loved what could be its discipline. Everything has roots for such a strong word, and what are roots if they don't create something new and particular, something like a whole new topic or maybe a story, a tale, whatever you want to call it. But if we look deeper we also know we can name it like most things around us, we want to feel that patronage that ownership, possession; we want it all and all at once. Like music, poetry is really alike it connects us, and even if we weren't to meet each other face to face, we might touch the lyrics of a track that will somewhat be said or expressed the same exact way. How crazy is to feel that we are able to do that and not crossing our minds in such well coexisting thought. Everybody has a story to tell at the end of the day to be exact, but I hope you all really make it a legend at the moment of relating it. To me this is my art and like I said it: my coffee and creamer, but when you get such feeling as the one most people say: I feel like there is butterflies in my stomach, is exactly how I truly felt at the moment I laid eyes on whom I believe is my soulmate. The joy, pride and dime of my days, besides the other ones we get daily and of course differently. Showing me that miracles do exist, and being a representation of love at first sight. You all might think I'm crazy and since I've known her for a year, or even more, but once you get a hold of what bathing and drowning in a sea of love is, it takes you to higher heights and it stands it up high being held by a strong branch just with such background as philosophy and literature are, revolutionizing a new concept art. Personally I've come to the understanding at such age that we all not love the same way, but when we do something for somebody and I don't know maybe feel perhaps differently after doing so, how did the impact of that person impacted you. In reality there is questions that we will never have meaning to, but know that love always answers over anything. Well that if legitimately and sincere will adhere to such scenario, I don't wanna make a scene; I wanna make a show that helps you reconstruct in your mind and heart as you read, something livid that perhaps when you are done reading you didn't expect to gain, cuz at the end every book read will be undertaken by its raw meaning, the one the author needed you to see and not seek. That's how poetry I think its influenced my life, it got me closer to appreciate what I have more than anything in the world, and if I was to let go I'll make a fool of myself; so it's not a test its a re-attempt to build that lost trust you've lost in many, and will make you a true believer that there is people eloquent enough to look for you even at the distance of a page, connecting us no matter how much time might roll by and leaving a legacy that I've been attempting to leave behind ever since the moment of my very birth.
