In One's Heart of Heart Sarah Elizabeth Shaw, 2016-10-01 In One's Heart of Heart is an 18th Century romantic and mystery novel, set in London, Spittle Fields, 1765. The story begins with the charming heroine, Emily Little, a courageous, intelligent, and wise lady, who gives her account of her unfortunate life to the reader. She appears forlorn and distraught by the many tragedies she encounters, and is a fugitive, along with her most cherished friend, Mildred Brown. Sadly, after Mildred's death, she has no alternative but to seek refuge alone, in a smithery, in Spittle Fields, where she meets a blacksmith named Matthew Taylor, whom she soon falls in love with, after enduring many quarrels with the ill-tempered and rugged blacksmith. Emily suffers many more dangers and conflicts during her incredible journey, meets some strange and amusing characters along the way, and holds many secrets in her heart, that will soon be discovered.

Elizabeth Shaw Elizabeth Shaw,

Free Will Skepticism in Law and Society Elizabeth Shaw, Derk Pereboom, Gregg D. Caruso, 2019-08-29 'Free will skepticism' refers to a family of views that all take seriously the possibility that human beings lack the control in action - i.e. the free will - required for an agent to be truly deserving of blame and praise, punishment and reward. Critics fear that adopting this view would have harmful consequences for our interpersonal relationships, society, morality, meaning, and laws. Optimistic free will skeptics, on the other hand, respond by arguing that life without free will and so-called basic desert moral responsibility would not be harmful in these ways, and might even be beneficial. This collection addresses the practical implications of free will skepticism for law and society. It contains eleven original essays that provide alternatives to retributive punishment, explore what (if any) changes are needed for the criminal justice system, and ask whether we should be optimistic or pessimistic about the real-world implications of free will skepticism.

Hydrology in Practice Elizabeth M. Shaw, Keith J. Beven, Nick A. Chappell, Rob Lamb, 2017-12-21 Hydrology in Practice is an excellent and very successful introductory text for engineering hydrology students who go on to be practitioners in consultancies, the Environment Agency, and elsewhere. This fourth edition of Hydrology in Practice, while retaining all that is excellent about its predecessor, by Elizabeth M. Shaw, replaces the material on the Flood Studies Report with an equivalent section on the methods of the Flood Estimation Handbook and its revisions. Other completely revised sections on instrumentation and modelling reflect the many changes that have occurred over recent years. The updated text has taken advantage of the extensive practical experience of the staff of JBA Consulting who use the methods described on a day-to-day basis. Topical case studies further enhance the text and the way in which students at undergraduate and MSc level can relate to it. The fourth edition will also have a wider appeal outside the UK by including new material on hydrological processes, which also relate to courses in geography and environmental science departments. In this respect the book draws on the expertise of Keith J. Beven and Nick A. Chappell, who have extensive experience of field hydrological studies in a variety of different environments, and have taught undergraduate hydrology courses for many years. Second- and final-year undergraduate (and MSc) students of hydrology in engineering, environmental science, and geography departments across the globe, as well as professionals in environmental protection agencies and consultancies, will find this book invaluable. It is likely to be the course text for every undergraduate/MSc hydrology course in the UK and in many cases overseas too.

Entrepreneurial Families Andrew Popp, 2015-10-06 Entrepreneurship is increasingly being recognized as an important facet of economic history. Popp examines the Shaw family business to present a study of entrepreneurship that puts the family centre stage.

The Successor Naomi Sawyer, Charles Arthur Sale, 2016-10-30 Elizabeth Shaw, Guardian of the Two Worlds, has a serious problem. Her ruthless brother Aedan and his bloodthirsty henchmen are determined to enslave Earth's inhabitants through a diabolical combination of Second World magic and First World technology. The combination would be catastrophic, and Aedan's subsequent rule merciless and absolute. Only Elizabeth and her Successor can prevent this apocalypse, but the search for the Successor has already spanned more than two decades, with little to show for it. Alexandra Ward and her best friend, Daniel Sutton, know nothing of this search or the existence of Second World. They do know they have magical powers that are increasingly hard to conceal and sometimes impossible to control, especially in a small town like modern-day Simsbury, Connecticut. This leads to trouble they could not have anticipated and challenges they could not have imagined. Multiple worlds, multiple motives—who is ally and who is enemy? Intrigue meets magic in a story both modern and timeless.
