Ernest Dichter and Motivation Research S. Schwarzkopf, R. Gries, 2010-08-20 The work of motivation and consumer researcher Ernest Dichter was a milestone in the psychological creation of the modern consumer. This collection contextualizes Ernest Dichter within twentieth-century consumer culture and it charts the rise of psychological approaches to consumption in post-war Europe and North America.

Popular Science, 1958-06 Popular Science gives our readers the information and tools to improve their technology and their world. The core belief that Popular Science and our readers share: The future is going to be better, and science and technology are the driving forces that will help make it better.

Designing Motion Markus Caspers, 2016-09-26 The chaise-longue by Le Corbusier, the radio by Rams, the chair by Eames – designers make things into cult objects and become icons themselves. But who knows which coupé was designed by Frua, which limousine by Engel, which station wagon by Opron? For a long time, car design was considered to be anonymous, the designers stood in the shadow of the perception of the design, even though their designs can be found on the roads in millions. This richly illustrated book captures the origin of a profession and maps the development of car design based on a comprehensive introduction and the career biographies of over 200 selected designers who contributed to the design of cars and many different associated products in the USA, Europe, and Japan between 1900 and 2000.

Diecast Toy Cars of the 1950s & 1960s Andrew Ralston, 2009-07 A guide for collectors discusses the history of die-cast toy cars of the 1950s and 1960s and surveys the companies that manufactured the toys around the world, including such major names as Dinky Toys, Corgi Toys, Solido, Tekno, and Tootsietoy.

A Critical Hypertext Analysis of Social Media Volker Eisenlauer, 2013-08-15 Facebook, in just a few years, has become one of the central tools people use to communicate with each other in everyday life. However, the perceived freedom of action on the site and the actual processes that are permitted in Facebook's set up don't always match up: in this book this gap is examined. This book identifies the interrelations between user text actions and the software environment framing them. It takes a critical perspective on Facebook and develops a model that grants methodological access to complex interlaced practices incorporating media, text and literacies. It shows Facebook users employing idiosyncratic and Facebook-specific literacy practices, and gives weight to the larger hypothesis of the software service as an ideological setting designed to calculate and standardize human behaviour. Specifically, the book examines text action and automation within Facebook to determine how the software service intervenes in the communicative flow between/among profile owners and profile recipients. This is cutting edge work and of huge importance to modern fields of discourse analysis and computer-mediated communication.

Ford, 1903-2003 Hubert Bonin, Yannick Lung, Steven Tolliday, 2003 Ford Motor Company is a global giant. It pioneered mass production and the global multinational corporations. Fordism is a symbol of the modern age. In this book, produced in Ford's centenary year, an international team of independent researchers explores Ford's European history and presents new analyses of its dynamics and significance. Second volume looks at Ford's European history across a hundred years and a dozen countries. It looks at Ford in face of national rivalries, economic integration, depression, dictatorships and wars. The national histories, written by a team of international researchers, complement the broader thematic studies in volume One.
