Nations Azar Gat, Alexander Jakobson, 2013 A groundbreaking study of the foundations of nationalism, exposing its antiquity, strong links with ethnicity and roots in human nature.

War in Human Civilization Azar Gat, 2008 In this truly global study, Azar Gat sets out to unravel the 'riddle of war' throughout human history, from the early hunter-gatherers right through to the unconventional terrorism of the twenty-first century.

A History of Military Thought Azar Gat, 2001 From the ideas of Clausewitz to contemporary doctrines of containment and cold war, this is a definitive history of modern military thought. A one-volume collection of Azar Gat's acclaimed trilogy, it traces the quest for a general theory of war from its origins in the Enlightenment. Beginning with a provocative critique of Clausewitz's classic work On War, the author unravels the endemic difficulties in Clausewitz's work that have baffled scholars for so long, clearly explaining the development of his ideas against the background of the Napoleonic revolution in war and the Romantic critique of the Enlightenment. He continues the story through the strategic ideas of the Prussian-German military school during the nineteenth century, the factors that shaped the 'cult of the offensive' in the French Army before the First World War, and the competing doctrines which dominated naval warfare during the ages of sail and steam. In the final part of the trilogy, he shows how theories of mechanized war emerged throughout the industrial world in the first decades of the twentieth century and explains why their leading exponents were associated with fascism. Drastically re-evaluating B.H. Liddell Hart's contribution to strategic theory, the author argues that in the wake of the trauma of the First World War, and in response to the Axis challenge, Liddell Hart developed the doctrine of containment and cold war long before the advent of nuclear weapons. He reveals Liddell Hart as a pioneer of the modern western liberal way in warfare which is still with us today.

It is a studying action plan for teachers, parents, and students. This book is a 4- or 10-weeks studying action plan. For the high-level students, they can move direct to the 4 weeks studying action plan by solving the practice tests. For the middle or low-level students, they should follow the 13 weeks action plan. The 10-weeks Studying action plan is divide into two parts as follow: Part 1: Week1 has two topics: sets of numbers and fractions. Week2 has three topics: Decimals, patterns-sequences, and averages-mode-median. Week3 has three topics: ratio-proportion, percentage, and algebraic expressions. Week4 has four topics: linear equations, quadratic equations, absolute value equations, and radical equations. Week5 has three topics: exponential equations, rational equations, and inequalities. Part 2: Week6 has three topics: functions, simultaneous equations, and life applications (ages' problems, time-distance problems, and time-work problems). Week7 has three topics: angles relationships, triangle relationships, and circle theorems. Week8 has three topics: coordinate geometry, special polygons, and circle-clock. Week9 has three topics: Geometric solids, sets and probability, and data representation. In weeks 10, there are 15 practice tests which are prepared from the past papers (Taj me'at). This book is expected to be milestone and a great help to our dear students, for its compressive free of long-winded explanations, and continues lots of exercises. Gat Van Holt,2012-04-09 During the roaring 1920s prohibition era, an old fashioned, tommy-gun toting private detective, named Mark Dash, wanders into Destino, Arizona. Gat, as he soon comes to be called, is just looking for some peace and quiet, and maybe a good woman to spend his time with. But, Gat soon finds that Destino seems to be owned by some tough gangsters and their speakeasy girlfriends. It is also apparent that they have the local, bumbling cops working for them. As the bullets start to fly, Gat has become the man who knows too much and death contracts are put out on him. With his life in danger from gangsters and cops, the only real justice in Destino seems to come from the barrel of a gun. But Gats' guns roared louder than the times and no one in Destino ever forgot him, except those who were too dead to remember.

Gat Heat Richard S. Prather,2015-11-17 When his client turns up dead and naked, Shell Scott focuses on the widow Everyone at the party is naked. It's just that kind of scene. Even the corpse seems to have forgotten his clothes. Private detective Shell Scott has tangled with the toughest 'hoods in Los Angeles—and has the scars to show for it—but even he isn't prepared for a gathering of Southern California's most murderous nudists. He's been summoned to the party by the host, George Halstead, on a matter of "peculiar delicacy," but he'll soon discover there's much more to this mystery than a single unclothed stiff. As it turns out, it's Halstead who's both naked and dead, and his widow is eager for Scott to crack the case. Before he knows what hit him, this PI will be neck-deep in blackmail, murder, and enough bare bodies to fill the grotto at the Playboy Mansion. Gat Heat is the 33rd book in the Shell Scott Mysteries, but you may enjoy reading the series in any order.

Ideological Fixation Azar Gat, 2022 This book was undertaken before the terms 'fake news' and 'alternative facts' were coined and the further escalation of America's ideological civil war. It was prompted by deep wonderment at the way people tend to be wholly enclosed within their ideological frames and deaf to claims about reality that come from the opposite camp, no matter how valid they might be. Ideology consists of normative prescriptions regarding how society should be shaped, together with an interpretive roadmap indicating how this normative vision can be implemented in reality. Ideological fixation is the result of tensions and conflicts between these two elements. The book does not focus on the normative aspect of ideology, which is largely subjective, but on its factual claims about the world, typically subordinate to, and often distorted by, the normative commitment. After theorists around 1960 proclaimed the 'death of ideology', ideological divides and clashes have reemerged with renewed intensity throughout the world, including in the liberal democracies. In the United States they have become particularly venomous. The other side is widely viewed as malicious, irrational or downright stupid, and, often, as barely legitimate. The zeal of the opposing sides is often scarcely less than that which characterized the religious ideologies of old. Indeed, historical religious ideologies have largely been replaced by 'secular religions' or 'religion substitutes'. The book is not another survey of past and present ideologies. It is an attempt to understand the cognitive, emotional and social roots of ideology and ideological fixation. It combines insights from evolutionary psychology regarding the nature of some of our deepest proclivities with a broad sweep through history. It proceeds from the Stone

Age to the rise of civilization, the great religions and modernity, to a critique of fundamental factual premises that underlie some of the major debates dominating today's liberal democracies--
