

Iron Bow

M Mark

Winter of the Iron Bow William F. Higbie, 2012-04-02 The story takes place in 1796 on the windswept Northern Plains. It is a coming-of-age story that takes place over the year in the life of a teen-aged member of the Cheyenne tribe. Bull Calf's needs are those of any adolescent male: he wants to have friends, to be accepted as a grown man, to seek adventure and aches to find true love with a girl, Pretty Day Walking. As Bull Calf leaves his childhood behind, to begin his new life as a warrior, his people are also emerging from the Stone Age in their own coming-of-age story, hurtling along on an unavoidable course with European technology. The introduction of firearms (iron bowstrings) leads to an intertribal arms race and war for survival with their enemies, the Absorkas. Having completed his vision quest, and now known by his man-name, Otters Circling, he must prove himself as a warrior, survive the warrior's path and return to the girl who has stolen his heart. This deeply researched novel is excellent for readers of all ages from 9 to 99.

Evil Breed Charles G. West, 2003-10-07 A gunslinger must outwit a bad bounty hunter in this western from Charles G. West... Jim Culver has never stayed in one place for too long, but now he's making tracks to save his own life. The U.S. Army doesn't take kindly to civilians killing their officers—even in self-defense. And they've hired the bounty hunter from Hell to catch him. But Jim has two things in his favor: the new .73 Winchester he's carrying—and the ability to use it. If bounty hunters are a breed apart, then Slocum is the most evil of them all. Big, nasty and bullying, he could be an artist's rendering of pure evil. But the Army thinks he's just the man to catch Jim Culver. The only hitch is that he has to bring his quarry back alive—and that's not something Slocum cottons to. But if there's a way around that—he'll find it. "Rarely has an author painted the great American West in strokes so bold, vivid, and true."—Ralph Compton

Indigenous People of Barak Valley Atiqur Rahman Barbhuiya, 2020-01-27 Major sections of Muslims presently living in Barak Valley were converted from local indigenous tribes due to the spiritual influence of holy Arabian saints coming from the Middle East. Tea tribes of Assam having only 150 years of history of settlement in Assam and the subjects of Ahom kings living in Assam are considered as indigenous, while Muslims, the subjects of contemporary Koch kings and Kachari kings, living in Assam with 700/800 years of settlement history have not been considered as indigenous or Assamese Khillonjia. This book explores the roots of Hindus and Muslims living in Barak Valley. Bengali Hindus and Muslims living in Assam should look back to their history if they want to live in Assam in a dignified manner. Our past history is our strength, not weakness.
