The Evolution of the Common Security and Defence Policy Marilena Koppa,2022-05-26 This book examines the evolution of the EU’s Common Security and Defence Policy (CSDP) from its inception in 1998 to the present day. Using the theoretical framework of historical institutionalism, it examines both the successes and failures of the CSDP. Drawing on a series of interviews with officials and researchers from various EU institutions, NATO, and diplomatic missions of EU member states, it assesses what has instigated changes in the CSDP, and why some events have proven more determining and influential than others. The book reviews six crises that have shaped the CSDP, including the Yugoslav Wars, the Second Gulf War, the Libyan campaign, the Ukrainian crisis, the Syrian crisis, and Brexit, in order to understand how real-life events have influenced policy. In this context, the book defines the term ‘European Strategic Autonomy’ dynamically, as the residual effect of negotiation over time. It will appeal to government officials and policymakers, as well as students and scholars of European politics and international relations.

Mayan Calendar Coloring Book Mary Fran Koppa,1996-12 You've noticed lately -- haven't you? -- that for the past few years, UFOs and phenomena in the skies are all over the place. Well, hold on to your hats! You can be pretty sure this is only going to increase in its frequency in the skies. In this book, you'll be able to read a little bit about who the beings in the UFOs are, where they're from, why they're here, and so on. In the future, it won't just be airplane pilots reporting on these things. You'll be talking about it among yourselves because regular folks just like you will be seeing these ships. This time, don't keep it quiet. Just talk about it with your neighbors or your friends online. It gives other people permission to believe what they saw. People have been taught, you know, not to believe what they see. So you can believe it -- it's real.

Slowbook ,2015 This a testament to slow social media in the twenty-teens when Michael Koppa in favor of a slower world, announceed on Facebook that he would make a book out of the first ten status updates he received by U.S. mail, as a grand finale before deactivating his Facebook account. He wanted to document a conscious shift away from online social media at the close of 2012, and to compare the value of time spent surfing social media to time spent engaged in the physical world around him and old school creative production. He put out a call for postal status updates,” in the form of text, photograph, artwork, or a link to an article published online. He promised to create a limited edition book, comprised of reproductions of the contributions, and send one copy to each contributor upon completion, if at least ten submissions were received by the end of 2013. His original limit for submissions was set at 420 characters, because he once received an error message on Facebook telling him their character limit was 420. The first submission received was well over 420 characters and four pages long, so he dropped the restrictions on contributions, and accepted everything that came to him. There was a flood of four submissions in October and November 2013 which brought the total number of contributors to thirteen. Some of the contributions came in the form of artwork, some in handwriting, photographs, or inkjet printed, and Word-formatted text. Everything was scanned, digitized, printed, trimmed, and adhered, scrapbook-style, into hand bound hard cover books handmade in Italy, by Irene Lazzarin of Slowbook (Italy).
