The 5th Season: New year ku (books 1 & 2 of 4) Robin D. Gill, 2007 In this book, the first of a series, Robin D. Gill, author of the highly acclaimed Rise, Ye Sea Slugs! and Cherry Blossom Epiphany, the largest single-theme anthologies of poetry ever published, explores the traditional Japanese New Year through 2,000 translated haiku (mostly 17-20c). The New Year, R.H. Blyth once wrote, is a season by itself. That was nowhere so plain as in the world of haiku, where saijiki, large collections called of ku illustrating hundreds, if not thousands of briefly explained seasonal themes, generally comprised five volumes, one for each season. Yet, the great doyen of haiku gave this fifth season, considered the first season when it came at the head of the Spring rather than in mid-winter, only a tenth of the pages he gave to each of the other four seasons (20 vs. 200). Was Blyth, Zen enthusiast, not enamored with ritual? Or, was he loath to translate the New Year with its many cultural idiosyncrasies (most common to the Sinosphere but not to the West), because he did not want to have to explain the haiku? It is hard to say, but, with these poems for the re-creation of the world, Robin D. Gill, aka keigu (respect foolishness, or respect-fool), rushes in where even Blyth feared to tread to give this supernatural or cosmological season - one that combines aspects of the Solstice, Christmas, New Year's, Easter, July 4th and the Once Upon a Time of Fairy Tales - the attention it deserves. With G.K. Chesterton's words, evoking the mind of the haiku poets of old, the author-publisher leaves further description of the content to his reader-reviewers. The man standing in his own kitchen-garden with the fairyland opening at the gate, is the man with large ideas. His mind creates distance; the motor-car stupidly destroys it. (G.K. Chesterton: Heretics 1905)

The Search for Fiona Kitty Tolsma Anderson, 2022-09-20 THE COVID-19 OUTBREAK PROVIDES A NEW CLUE TO A STONE-COLD KIDNAPPING CASE Decades ago, a SCIB bioweapons spy ring operative abducted Detective Benson Purdy's daughter-in-law, Fiona, a young virologist with a promising career in mRNA technology. Circumstances force Benson's clan of detectives into the Witness Security Program. Fiona's husband, Cole, still longs for the love of his life, but has no hope of ever finding her. Until now. Cole dares to follow a new lead that surfaces during the pandemic. It begins in a Chinese laboratory and transitions to a castle in Tibet. Before the Purdy (alias Anderson) family can react, their Pacific Northwest bunker comes under siege as the enemy closes in to neutralize the threat posed to their international scheme. OF THOSE WHO ESCAPE, WILL ANY BE ABLE TO RESCUE FIONA BEFORE A NEW VIRAL VARIANT SETS OFF ANOTHER GLOBAL PANDEMIC?

Liang Ch'i Ch'ao and the Mind of Modern China Joseph R. Levenson, 2018-12-12 The distinction between "history" and "value" is the ground of this penetrating work. Liang Ch'i-ch'ao began writing in the 1890's, as one who was straining against his tradition intellectually, seeing value elsewhere, but still emotionally tied to it, held by his history. How history contrived such a tension, how its release in Liang went together with the release of Confucian China from life, is the grand subject. And in drawing the times out of Liang's intellectual life, Mr. Levenson contributes much of more general interest—a new understanding of the concepts of anachronism, analogy, contemporaneity, the generation, historical relativism, historical context, cultural and national identity, personal identity, and the distinction (crucial to comprehension of why ideas ever change) between "thinking" and "thought." "A brilliant study of the life and work of an exceptional writer who shaped the political thought of modern China...Told with a humanist understanding far removed from the dry-as-dust manner usually ascribed to front-rank historians...this detailed account of a maker of modern China will interest not only the scholar in Far Eastern affairs, but will hold enthralled all students of the human mind in its never-ending quest for adjustment in a world of change."—Asia Major "Why was the Confucian tradition found wanting? Why was westernization rejected? Why was Nationalism not enough for China? To these and many similar questions Liang's life and writings provide the best answer. Mr. Levenson has interpreted them with real insight into the nature of Chinese civilization."—Times Literary Supplement "Advances enough brilliant and challenging hypotheses to invigorate studies of Chinese intellectual history for a long time to come....[Levenson's study] shows throughout a compassionate understanding of the harsh dilemmas, the bitter tragedies that the last century has brought to all Chinese."—Arthur F. Wright

Weathering the Storm Peter C. Y. Chow, Bates Gill, 2010-12-01 In July 1997, the promise of the i°Asian economic miraclei± and the i°Pacific centuryi± devolved into economic chaos and the onset of what has become known as the Asian financial crisis. One by one, many of the regioni~s great economic success stories suffered damage to their financial markets, their currencies, and economic well-being. This volume, the result of an April 1999 conference organized by the Chung-Hua Institution for Economic Research and the Brookings Institution, examines the sources and lessons of the Asian financial crisis. Experts from both sides of the Pacific have drawn valuable policy lessons from the failures and successes of four key economies in the region: Indonesia, South Korea, Thailand, and Taiwan. In examining Taiwan's relative success in weathering the storm, this volume helps explain the widely varying degrees of performance of the region's affected economies. The concluding chapter focuses on general principles for the liberalization of financial markets and stabilization of macroeconomy in developing countries. This work provides much-needed new understanding and reasoned policy lessons to help the Asia-Pacific region meet its vast economic potential. It will be useful for academics and economic policymakers in governments, international organizations, universities, and research institutions, both in the region and beyond, as they assess and implement strategies for more stable regional and global economic development.
