Adventures of Embry the Vulpix (Book 2) Mark Mülle, 2016-10-28 Something spooky is happening in the ruins of Lavender Town, and it's up to Embry to find out! Dear Diary, We had a newcomer at the village today! He was very strange, and he spoke of a faraway city all in ruins. No one has lived there in years, not since the humans went away, and he says it's all crumbling walls and empty houses. This sounds just like the adventure I've been needing ever since I came home from the Fire Festival - everything back home has been so boring. Unfortunately, it doesn't seem that any of my friends want to go with me, but that's okay! After all, I went to the Festival all on my own at first, and I made great friends along the way. I'm sure this adventure will work out the same way. The only thing I'm a little worried about is that the town is supposedly haunted. No one knows why everyone left the city, or at least not anyone I talked to. The stranger said that I probably shouldn't go alone, but I don't see what the problem could be, it's just an empty city. Right? But that's not what the travelers on the road said. One of them told me that the city is haunted by malicious spirits, and that I do better to go somewhere else for my adventure. Now I can't resist - an abandoned, ancient city full of ghosts? What makes for a better story, diary? Nothing that I can think of! So far everything has been going smoothly, much more so than my travel to the Fire Festival. Even without Pearl I'm not terribly lonely, as there are many Pokemon on the road. Yet everyone says the same thing - to leave the city alone. What's the big deal? Don't they know they're just making me more curious with all these vague answers? I've got to find out, diary. I'm going to Lavender Town.

Spooky Technology: A reflection on the invisible and otherworldly qualities in everyday technologies Daragh Byrne, Dan Lockton, Matthew Cruz, Christi Danner, Karen Escarcha, Katherine Giesa, Meijie Hu, Yiwei Huang, Miranda Luong, Anuprita Ranade, Gordon Robertson, Elizabeth Wang, Lisa (Yip Yan) Yeung, Catherine Yochum, 2021-08-31 Spooky Technology explores our understanding of the invisible technologies in our everyday lives, from objects with 'intelligence' to systems in our homes that talk to us (and each other). The book is an inventory of spooky technologies, compiled by Carnegie Mellon students reviewing work across art, design, HCI, psychology, human factors research, and other fields, that has been done in this field, or adjacent to it, both historically and more recently, with commentary, essays, and interviews with creators and artists. We often hear that the technologies in our everyday lives would appear to be ‘magic’ and potentially terrifying to people in the past—instantaneous communication with people all over the world, access to a vast, ever-growing resource of human knowledge right there in the palm of our hand, objects with ‘intelligence’ that can sense and talk to us (and each other). But rarely are these ‘otherworldly’ dimensions of technologies explored in more detail. There is an often unspoken presumption that the march of progress will inevitably mean we all adopt new practices, and incorporate new products and new ways of doing things into our lives—all cities will become smart cities; all homes will become smart homes. But these systems have become omnipresent without our necessarily understanding them. They are not just black boxes, but invisible: entities in our homes and everyday lives which work through hidden flows of data, unknown agendas, imaginary clouds, mysterious sets of rules which we perhaps dismiss as ‘algorithms’ or even ‘AI’ without really understanding what that means. On some level, the superstitions and sense of wonder, and ways of relating to the unknown and the supernatural (deities, spirits, ghosts) which humanity has felt in every culture throughout history have not gone away, but started to become transferred and transmuted into new forms.

Atlas of Imagined Places Matt Brown,Rhys B. Davies,2021-09-28 WINNER, Edward Stanford Travel Writing Awards 2022: Illustrated Travel Book of the Year. HIGHLY COMMENDED, British Cartographic Society Awards 2022. From Stephen King's Salem's Lot to the superhero land of Wakanda, from Lilliput of Gulliver's Travels to Springfield in The Simpsons, this is a wondrous atlas of imagined places around the world. Locations from film, tv, literature, myths, comics and video games are plotted in a series of beautiful vintage-looking maps. The maps feature fictional buildings, towns, cities and countries plus mountains and rivers, oceans and seas. Ever wondered where the Bates Motel was based? Or Bedford Falls in It's a Wonderful Life? The authors have taken years to research the likely geography of thousands of popular culture locations that have become almost real to us. Sometimes these are easy to work out, but other times a bit of detective work is needed and the authors have been those detectives. By looking at the maps, you'll find that the revolution at Animal Farm happened next to Winnie the Pooh's home. Each location has an an extended index entry plus coordinates so you can find it on the maps. Illuminating essays accompanying the maps give a great insight into the stories behind the imaginary places, from Harry Potter's wizardry to Stone Age Bedrock in the Flintstones. A stunning map collection of invented geography and topography drawn from the world's imagination. Fascinating and beautiful, this is an essential book for any popular culture fan and map enthusiast.

Oculus Sally Wen Mao,2019-01-15 A brilliant second collection by Sally Wen Mao on the violence of the spectacle—starring the film legend Anna May Wong In Oculus, Sally Wen Mao explores exile not just as a matter of distance and displacement but as a migration through time and a reckoning with technology. The title poem follows a nineteen-year-old girl in Shanghai who uploaded her suicide onto Instagram. Other poems cross into animated worlds, examine robot culture, and haunt a necropolis for electronic waste. A fascinating sequence spanning the collection speaks in the voice of the international icon and first Chinese American movie star Anna May Wong, who travels through the history of cinema with a time machine, even past her death and into the future of film, where she finds she has no progeny. With a speculative imagination and a sharpened wit, Mao powerfully confronts the paradoxes of seeing and being seen, the intimacies made possible and ruined by the screen, and the many roles and representations that women of color are made to endure in order to survive a culture that seeks to consume them.
