Southeast Asian Personalities of Chinese Descent Leo Suryadinata,2012 This is a bold project recording the lives of a particular group of Southeast Asians.

Most of the people whose biographies are included here have settled down in the ten countries that constitute the region. Each of them has either self-identified as Chinese or is comfortable to be known as someone of Chinese ancestry. There are also those who were born in China or elsewhere who came here to work and do business, including seeking help from others who have ethnic Chinese connections. With the political and economic conditions of the region in a great state of flux for the past two centuries, it is impossible to find consistency in the naming process. Confucius had stressed that correct names make for the best relationships. In this case, Professor Leo Suryadinata has been pursuing for decades the elusive goal of finding the right name to give to the large numbers of people who have, in one way or another, made their homes in, or made some difference to, Southeast Asia. I believe that, when he and his colleagues selected the biographies to be included here, they have taken a big step towards the rectification of identities for many leading personalities. In so doing, he has done us all a great service. - Professor Wang Gungwu, National University of Singapore

Women and Pride Luping Huang,2018-09-30 Reinhold Niebuhr is largely regarded as the leading twentieth-century theologian of sin. However, many feminist theologians criticize Niebuhr's view of pride as the primary sin, arguing that it fits only with men's experience. In this detailed study, Dr Luping Huang engages with Niebuhr and his feminist critics to provide a response to the feminist critique of Niebuhr's theology of sin. Dr Huang provides a thorough analysis and examination of both the Niebuhrian and feminist understandings of sin, highlighting the strengths and limitations of both arguments. While some aspects of the feminists' opposition to Niebuhr's doctrine of sin are valid, there are weaknesses and limitations within its own framework. Through her research and interaction with women's testimonies, Huang's argument bridges these two competing views of women and sin resulting in a more accurate understanding and application of the theology of sin, particularly in reference to women.

What Is Life All about ? Toh Lee Toh Lee Sin,2015-07-03 This booklet contains 36 short and sweet passages of spiritual wisdom for the New Age.

~~~~~ SELECTED PASSAGES FROM THE BOOKLET: ~~~~~ 1. Choice As we begin our spiritual journey, a most pertinent question to ask is... What is life all about? And the good news is... Life is about choice - which means, we get to decide what our life is all about. Choice is not a chore but a chance to exercise our response-ability; it is not a problem but a freedom to be who we really wish to be. ~~~~~ 2. Divine Will Authenticity means living from the bottom of our heart. The deeper we go, the truer we are and the closer we get to expressing our true nature. When we are expressing our true nature, our will IS divine will. The only way we can ever know divine will firsthand is through ourselves - the temple of divinity itself. Any other way is a form of hearsay which must always be verified to see if they are true and valid (for us). ~~~~~ 3. The Music Within There is such an information overload these days that it is most necessary to regularly disengage from the outer informational world and give our own inner world a good chance at educating ourselves. Only when we've turned off the noise can we hear more clearly the music playing from within. Education will transform the world. Self-education will transform education. ~~~~~ 4. Universal God There are very many who claim to be working for Spirit, Source or Universe, not realizing that Spirit, Source or Universe is none other than all of us, collectively. These people are always looking outside of themselves for answers - and even instructions - on what to do and how to behave; they are always looking for opportunities to chalk up some brownie points. They therefore become very easily influenced or controlled by 'teachers' or 'gurus' who claim to represent or channel Spirit, Source or Universe. The more authoritative or domineering these teachers and gurus appear to be, the more convincing they seem to be - after all, people who do not believe in themselves do need to believe in somebody else. The most direct way to know God is through ourselves and not someone else. In fact, strictly speaking, this is the only way! ~~~~~ 5. Internal Compass Being legal is following the rules of the state. Being moral is following the rules of society. Being ethical is following the rules of one's own conscience. Being spiritual is listening to the voice of one's own intuition. While legality and morality help to provide for a safe and stable living environment, it is only in being ethical and spiritual - in fulfilling our conscience and intuition - that we as individuals can find any real satisfaction as well as the power to make our own decision and chart our own direction. All wars can be made legal and moral by the powers that be, but hardly any can ever be considered ethical and spiritual. If humanity wishes a greater level of fulfillment, personal power as well as world peace, it must learn to also navigate with its own internal compass. ~~~~~

Have You Eaten Yet Cheuk Kwan,2023-01-03 An eye-opening and soul-nourishing journey through Chinese food around the world. From Cape Town, South Africa, to small-town Saskatchewan, family-run Chinese restaurants are global icons of immigration, community and delicious food. The cultural outposts of far-flung settlers, bringers of dim sum, Peking duck and creative culinary hybrids, Chinese restaurants are a microcosm of greater social forces. They are an insight into time, history, and place. Author and film-maker Cheuk Kwan, a self-described “card-carrying member of the Chinese diaspora,” weaves a global narrative by linking the myriad personal stories of chefs, entrepreneurs, labourers and dreamers who populate Chinese kitchens worldwide. Behind these kitchen doors lies an intriguing paradox which characterizes many of these communities: how Chinese immigrants have resisted—or have often been prevented from—complete assimilation into the social fabric of their new homes. In both instances, the engine of their economic survival—the Chinese restaurant and its food—has become seamlessly woven into towns and cities all around the world. An intrepid travelogue of grand vistas, adventure and serendipity, Have You Eaten Yet? charts a living atlas of global migration, ultimately revealing how an excellent meal always tells an even better story.

Esport Play Veli-Matti Karhulahti,2020-06-11 Weaving the author's own lived experience with theoretical insights from the fields of game studies, psychology, and anthropology, Esport Play probes and advances current gaming topics such as addiction, skill development, and toxicity. With a focus on League of Legends – one of the flagship esports of our time – Karhulahti explicates what esport play is: documenting and identifying competitive play as a present-day means to satisfy basic human needs. Ultimately, the book presents a theory of psycholudic development that explains and organizes the development of player-play relationships that may last for years.
