Resurrection Patriarch Justin Howard, 2022-03-04 As a thirty-five-year-old migrant worker, someone who is not high or low does not even deserve to have a name. He was born in a remote village. After graduating from high school, he followed the same villagers to the south to work. He has always been at the bottom of the working class. The more I change, the more unsatisfactory I am. Now I am a maintenance staff of a property company, and it can be regarded as stable.

Violencia, discurso y público infantil Luis Sánchez Corral, 2005 El propósito de este libro es analizar de qué manera la 'violencia como acción' se convierte, mediante instancias semióticas y narrativas, en 'violencia como discurso'. Desde esta perspectiva es posible determinar el concepto de 'violencia simbólica' y, en consecuencia, estudiar sus efectos de sentido y los correspondientes procesos cognitivos así generados. La finalidad no es otra que obtener estrategias para explicar por qué determinados segmentos de población, especialmente los niños y los jóvenes, se sienten fascinados por el lenguaje de la violencia. Se indaga, por una parte, sobre la 'dimensión pragmática' de este discurso como la transformación que experimenta el agresor desde la carencia (o frustración inicial) hasta la 'satisfacción de la carencia' (o estado de placer conseguido mediante la ejecución de la agresividad); por otra parte, se investiga asimismo la 'dimensión cognitiva' de los enunciados, para ver de qué manera el hacer persuasivo (o seductor) del enunciador dirige y gobierna el hacer interpretativo (o seducido) de los destinatarios

Between Worlds Leo Lionni, 1998-05-13 Here, sumptuously illustrated, is a superbly written account of a remarkable life--a life spent divided between Europe and America, between art and commerce--by the famous artist, art director, and children's book author Leo Lionni. Born in Holland, half Jewish, raised in Amsterdam, Brussels, Genoa, Philadelphia--Lionni is a man of many languages and cultures but no real home. His story is one of a constant search, a search that takes him from an ideal early childhood to a strict education in Italy that proved largely irrelevant to his future, and then to exile from Fascist Italy in America; from being a highly political aspiring artist to becoming a highly successful advertising director (he invented the famous Never underestimate the power of a woman campaign) and a powerful force in the world of graphics as the art director of Fortune magazine; from life in the affluent commuter world of Connecticut to a return to Italy and the life of an artist. After all this--a full life by any account--he finds yet another successful vocation as the author and illustrator of children's books that have sold millions of copies throughout the world. Lionni tells his story--it encompasses his early romance and happy marriage, and his countless extraordinary friends and acquaintances--in the most elegant and persuasive prose, the kind of English that only a distinguished European can write. And since his story is also the story of a lifetime of creativity, throughout the book are examples, in color and black-and-white, of his remarkable body of work--painting, sculpture, ceramics, mosaics, photography, graphics, and, of course, illustration. This is an autobiography both of great intellectual and artistic sophistication and of large human appeal.

The River of Times Leo Kissin, 2003-04-01 Autobiography of Leo Kissin

A Future for Astyanax Leo Bersani, 1984

A Future for Astyanax Leo Bersani, 1978

Observations of an Exile Simon Gianni Leo, 2007-04 I was born in another country of French parents. My father was a bureaucrat whose job was to administer one part or another of the dying French colonial empire. My parents marriage was not happy; it resulted in dislocation and misery. My mother eventually married a U.S. Army soldier and we went to America and its rising empire. I became a citizen of this country. I have lived here for nearly fifty years, yet I have never lost the feeling of being an outsider. This fact colors nearly every aspect of my life and of this journal. This is a true account. It represents my attempt to understand every level of my life and of the stage on which it has taken place. The awareness of self that we call our ego must be ones main point of reference, but there is a world outside that ranges from the immediate and personal to the global and universal. There is also an inner world that is of unknown extent. Dreams bubble up from that unknown land. Natural talents and limitations arise from it and sink back into its depths. All of these aspects and more are the subject matter of this journey of discovery. Its organizing principle is the breakup of my marriage and especially its aftermath, which was very much different than I had imagined it would be. I make no claim to being correct in all my observations and judgments, but I give my word that I have done my best to set it down as truthfully as I was able to.

Alexander Payne Leo Biga,2016-09-01 Leo Biga has reported on the career of filmmaker Alexander Payne for 20 years. In this updated collection of essays, the author-journalist-blogger offers the only comprehensive look at Payne's career and creative process. Based in Payne's hometown of Omaha, Nebraska, Biga has been granted access to location shooting for Nebraska and Sideways, the latter filmed in California's wine country. Biga has also been given many exclusive interviews by Payne and his creative collaborators. His insightful analysis of Payne's films and personal journey has been praised by Payne for its honesty, thoughtfulness, and accuracy. The two-time Oscar-winner calls Biga's articles, the most complete and perceptive of any journalist's anywhere. Payne's films are celebrated for their blend of humor and honest look at human relationships. Members of Hollywood's A-List, including George Clooney (The Descendants), Jack Nicholson (About Schmidt), Reese Witherspoon (Election), Paul Giamatti (Sideways), Laura Dern (Citizen Ruth), and Bruce Dern (Nebraska), have starred in his films.

Hierophantic Landscapes Richard Leviton, 2011-09-26 The Earth is poised to make a great disclosure. It's a hierophant. But what's a hierophant? A person who reveals the holy light. But it can also be a landscape or a planet. And what's the holy light? It is the structure of reality and consciousness, a map of the heavenly realms, the engineering blueprint of Creation. Some people call this imminent disclosure the Apocalypse and run for cover. But that is mistaken. Apocalypse means the revelation of the divine revelation. It means the end of our picture of the world as we know it. The world itself will be fine, even better than fine. Splendid. Illumined. The Architect of reality lays down His cards, face up, and you see the whole deck. Here is the truth of yourself and the Earth. How will this disclosure work? What we call sacred sites and holy landscapes will start revealing themselves in full to us in all their geomantic and visionary richness. That's the inner patterning of their design, their arrays of Light temples and subtle palaces primed for our visionary adventures and edification. The Earth needs us to have these adventures and visions because that's how we keep the planet healthy. Hierophantic Landscapes visits five landscapes from Norway and England to California and Mexico, providing firsthand reports on the visions and adventures of a small band of geomancers as they seek to unravel the mysteries of the Earth. Maybe not such a small band, because along the way we encounter angels, landscape devas, Nature Spirits, and otherworldly mentors, and revel in vistas of the ancient past of the Earth when that revelation was as fresh as a sunrise, as it will soon be again.
