Bodies in Motion Mary Anne Mohanraj,2009-10-13 Like the sweet heat of a palate-pleasing curry or the brilliant radiance of bougainvillea, the short stories in Mary Anne Mohanraj's Bodies in Motion will delight the senses and sensibilities. Her tales follow two generations of two families living on the cusp of disparate worlds, America and Sri Lanka -- their lives and ties shaped, strengthened, devastated, and altered by the emigrant-immigrant ebb and flow. Through stunning, effervescent prose, intimate moments are beautifully distilled, revealing the tug-of-war between generations and gender in stories sensual and honest, chronicling love, ambition, and the spiritual and sexual quests of mothers and daughters, fathers and sons.

The Gospel of Mary Magdalena And Me Rethy Devi,2021-08-31 I'm pleased to introduce my novel I have invested last 10 years of my life researching. writing and rewriting this book. More than 500 books I have read before, I wrote this novel. Born out of diversity each of these women lived apart for centuries without any meeting, finally, provides a context and a narrative style unique to this novel. And it unravels a freshness of spirit. The tug of war between the ideologies of the east and west, the interplay of similarities in human nature spread over a vast expanse of time help interpret and understand herself. The story draws its inspiration from my interest in the intriguing nature of feminist ideas alongside spirituality and sexuality. It was a sincere effort to highlight my passion for feminist philosophies, psychology and politics. I chose to write a fiction as I enjoy telling stories and found it a good medium to weave in my other interests in sociology, history, metaphysics and quantum physics. The first part of the novel deals with the recital of life experiences of Mary Magdalene, who lived nearly two thousand years ago. there was a noble woman called Lexmi who lived in modern era. In the second part, Lexmi relates to Mary Magdalene, her woes as a philosopher and her frustrations reflective of life in today's world. War is just like terrorism, 20 million people died in the two world Wars and 10 million people vanished at the time of partition of India. My novel is seriously discussing these issues.

Maria, Just Maria Sandhya Mary, 2024-01-16 'A rare novel.' - S. HAREESH 'A must-read!' - DAISY ROCKWELL Following the death of her grandfather, Maria has stopped speaking - not because she can't, but because she doesn't want to. Now in a psychiatric hospital, as she begins the process of 'reconnecting with reality', Maria recalls her journey of being 'just Maria' - a girl born into a Syrian Christian family in Kerala, whose companions were a grandfather who took her along to wander around the village and its toddy shops, a great-aunt with dementia who challenged Maria's position as the youngest in the family, a dog with a penchant for philosophy, various long-dead family members including a great-grandmother with a knack for prophecies, a patron saint who insisted on interfering in people's affairs, and Karthav Eesho Mishiha with whom Maria has regular conversations. Sandhya Mary's novel Maria, Just Maria - masterfully translated by the award-winning Jayasree Kalathil - is an insightful and humorous take on ideas like normal-abnormal, natural-human, love-hate, etc. that define contemporary society, and the exuberant and moving story of a woman trying to find her place in this world.

The Maria, Or Wrongs of Woman Mary Wollstonecraft, 2022-07-14 The story is more of a memoir of a woman, Maria who was captured in an asylum by her husband. In the story, she narrates how her husband has ill-treated her and taken her wealth and her 4-month-old daughter away from her. The memoir is all about how the misogynistic society treats a woman of free will. Mary Wollstonecraft, by this book, has described the unjust behavior of the society and struggles as a mother, for her daughter to read. The book is a paperback book with well-arranged illustrations and optimized for a relaxed and enjoyable reading experience. Happy Reading!.

What Once Seemed Strange Michele Kay, Mary Ann Roser, 2013-09 From Cairo to Austin: exiled at 12, Michele Kay takes her readers on a gut-wrenching, painfully lonely, but often exhilarating journey to home. This memoir tells the intensely personal stories of her family's expulsion from Egypt during the 1956 Suez Canal crisis and the devastating effects this displacement had on their lives. No matter where her nomadic life took her - Egypt, London, Hong Kong, Saigon, San Francisco, Paris, Tel Aviv, Washington, Texas -- Michele proved, as she once wrote, Life is a series of opportunities ... to grab. Mother of two, grandmother of five, she was often described as a fireball who thought fast, wrote fast and spoke very fast. Inspiring, fascinating. A reassuring story for anyone faced with unwanted, unexpected twists and turns in life. And that would be, of course, all of us - back cover.

Tuesday's Child Mary Ashun, 2013-04-14 Mary Ashun's Tuesday's Child is the story of a girl born in the small West African country of Ghana. She has big dreams, a large boisterous, extended family and a tendency towards asking questions that children, especially girls aren't supposed to ask. Boarding school days, interminable church services and a famine that leaves her thin enough to be an '80's model are all narrated with such candid humor that it's hard to believe there were any scars. Now older, wiser, with a family of her own and living in North America, she embarks on a journey back to Ghana. The mission: to make peace. Who with? The answer might surprise you and this is why this is balanced African storytelling at its best!

Mary Of The Shanty Mary Seaton, 2023-07-26 This is a story based on true events of Mary of The Shanty. Born in a shanty on the banks of the Murrumbidgee River, Mary is a simple girl who was born with an amazing will to live. Pure of heart and keen of mind, she is a survivor. Mary grows up on a small farm with her father on the banks of the Murrumbidgee River in Victoria. She was just sixteen years old when her father died and left her all alone during the great depression in Australia during the 1930s. Mary pulls herself up by her bootstraps and sets about fortifying her property against the influx of the poor, destitute, and desperate, people arriving in the area. These people end up in a camp on the commons on the very edge of Mary's land. Mary's father had warned her they would come and had asked her not to overlook the fact that these people were homeless and starving through no fault of their own. Mary takes produce from her market garden into the monthly market in town and manages to make a living. She is comfortable but hard working. One day as she was returning from the market Mary encounters a few of the camp children. Her heart goes out to them, and she goes to the camp to meet the people. Then and there she decides to help them to help themselves and a friendly alliance is born. Mary goes through their trials and tribulations with them, she adopts them and they her. But there are those towns people who don't want these people around and Mary and her group find themselves confronted and challenged on all fronts. She forms a bond with Dan, one of the men and together they forge a partnership which will bring all these people through these toughest of times. Mary experiences love and friendship along the way but there are those who wish to hurt her and they do it in the worst of ways. But these people hadn't reckoned on the fierceness of the quiet, unassuming man who loves her, and soon regret bringing his ire down on themselves. For he will stop at nothing to keep his loved ones safe.

Second Chances Mary Williams,2016-07-25 Mary did not know why she did not live with her siblings as a child. At the age of six, she was placed in an orphanage. She learned to cook and all the children took turns cleaning their living areas. Two bathrooms for 25 girls, unbelievable. Her school day brought joy in reading, being forced to write right handed was not pleasant. A friendship with a former missionary brought her closer to God in the orphanage. In her high school days she had problems, because the classes were in so many rooms. She found a plan to manage better, and she liked the science classes. She wrote a few plays which her teacher produced with her classmates. Mary's first marriage was forced upon her, she had to leave the orphanage. The next years she relied on God, completely. A divorce became necessary when her husband showed cruelty. She enjoyed her children, she worked in a pharmacy to supply their needs. She became a professional cake baker for birthdays and weddings. This helped her stay close to her teenagers. The girls learned to decorate cakes, and her son became a good cook. Mary developed several health problems and was helped by service dogs through the years. All of her dogs were Pekinese. Mary wrote her biography some years ago. So she wrote her life again, presently, to explain how she became a Bahá'í. She describes how she is happy now, as a member of the Bahá'í Faith. Mary became an artist through her later years, as is evident by the books cover.
