The Precarious Life of James Mario Matra Alan Frost, James Mario Matra, 1995 In August 1768, James Mario Matra, the 22-year-old son of an American loyalist, sailed with Captain Cook to unknown parts of the world. The voyage, fraught with danger and uncertainty, marked the beginning of what was to be, in many ways, a precarious life. On the Endeavour's return in 1771, Matra anonymously published the first major account of Cook's voyage. He never saw New Holland again, but his significant role in the history of the settlement of Australia was not yet ended. When the American War of Independence deprived Matra of his family inheritance, the Endeavour's celebrated naturalist, Sir Joseph Banks, helped get Matra employment as an official in various foreign outposts. In this capacity he turned his mind to ways of promoting Britain's global commercial network. Having personally felt the loss of one British colony, he conceived a plan to found another. In 1783 he proposed a British settlement in new South Wales to atone for the loss of our American colonies. The settlement would give asylum to dispossessed American loyalists and would be built on the labor of young convicts. Matra offered to be its Conductor and Governor. The Pitt administration concurred with Matra's proposal but declined to offer him the government of the intended colony. Instead he was given the post of Consul at Tangier, where he remained until his death in 1806. This book blends Matra's extensive and colorful correspondence with a biographical narrative to reveal for the first time the life and influence of this mysterious figure.

Demonizer Zilch, Vol. 1 Milan Matra, 2016-02-23 Haunted by the untimely deaths of his mother, little sister, and a childhood friend, listless high schooler Haruomi Io has trouble engaging with anything or anyone. Of course, that doesn't mean others have trouble engaging with him—a fact he discovers to his dismay when he finds himself the target of a trigger-happy group calling themselves the Seventh Gospel Organization. Having newfound enemies may be rough, but Haruomi's unexpected ally in the form of a demoness calling herself Zilch may turn out to be even more of a handful...Still, there's something to be said for a dose of the supernatural (and more than a few buxom girls) when it comes to casting off the doldrums!

Omamori Himari, Vol. 4 Milan Matra, 2011-12-12 When Himari squares off against Kuesu Jinguuji, demon slayer and purportedly Yuuto's betrothed, the cat may have bitten off more than she can chew! Kuesu's abilities are formidable to say the least, forcing Himari to retreat with her tail tucked between her legs. Is the shame of defeat in battle too much for Himari to bear, or can Yuuto be the one to offer her support for a change?

Omamori Himari, Vol. 9 Milan Matra, 2012-11-20 Yuuto, having accepted his duty as a demon slayer, is welcomed to a slayer roundtable at the home of the first-rank family, the Tsuchimikado. However, the demon slayers gathered there aren't as welcoming to Himari. Claiming that Himari will prove to be a danger to Yuuto, they go on the offensive to draw out the bloodthirsty, evil beast that dwells within her soul. But they're in for a surprise when...!?

Omamori Himari, Vol. 2 Milan Matra,2011-12-12 Sure, timid Yuuto Amakawa has his hands (and bed?!) full with his new housemate - the beguiling, sword-wielding cat spirit Himari, who has sworn to protect him from spirits out for his slayer blood! But Yuuto's desire to coexist peacefully with the spirits his ancestors once hunted has a not-entirely-unwanted side effect - his life is suddenly chock-full of beautiful girls! He's got a Lolita water spirit now also freeloading at his place, and he keeps finding himself in the middle of random encounters with gorgeous female spirits of all shapes and sizes. Yup, Yuuto's got it made! That is, until a trip to his late grandparents' house turns deadly...

Matra 1965-1983 Road Test R. M. Clarke,1997-07 Production of the Matra Djet sports car began in 1965 with just a few hundred cars being sold in Europe. In the meantime their Formula 3 cars were having some success on the racetrack. The Djet 5 soon became the Djet 5S. The M530 was introduced in 1967 and sold through Simca, later owned by Chrysler. The Bagheera introduced the revolutionary three-seater configuration with the engine positioned transversely behind the driver. There were various engine changes during the next few years with Chrysler adding the Rancho in the late 1970s. Peugeot took over the European arm of Chrysler in 1978 and the Bagheera ceased to be imported into the UK in 1979. The three-seater idea was continued with the Murena. This is a book of contemporary road and comparison tests, technical & specification data, driver's impressions, history profile. Models covered include: Sports, Djet 5, Formula 2, M530, MS84, 660 Le Mans, MS120, Bagheera, Bagheera S, Rancho, Murena.
