Sascha Ossowski

Meridiana Nicolette Fuller,2023-08-02 History is always bound to repeat itself. In the wise words of Professor Dorian, “it’s always about survival of the fittest.” Peace cannot last forever, as an army from the North marches towards the sanctuary of Meridiana with full intent of taking it over. As the governor, Gavin faces difficult choices, and makes the call to reinstate city curfews. Devastated by the news, Hokura volunteers herself on peacekeeper duty, but this time it isn’t simply scouting out rebels. Bound by destiny, her mission is to now become the hardened super soldier she was always meant to be. But can she save those she loves?

Meridiana: The Adventures of Three Englishmen and Three Russians Jules Verne,2023-09-11 The young astronomer seated himself against a giant euphoria, forty feet high, and in that position looked down the river, while the hunter, little used to sitting, continued to walk along the bank, and Top roused up clouds of wild birds, to which, however, his master gave no heed. They had been here about half an hour, when William Emery noticed that Mokoum, who was standing about 100 feet below him, gave signs of a closer attention. Was it likely that he had seen the long-expected boat? The astronomer, leaving his mossy couch, started for the spot where the hunter stood, and came up to him in a very few moments....FROM THE BOOKS.

Co-ordination in Artificial Agent Societies Sascha Ossowski,1999 This monograph provides a comprehensive survey of the different approaches to coordination in societies of artificial an human agents. Setting out from a critical assessment of the state of the art, the author develops a method of structuring multi-agent applications with a mechanism called structural cooperation. Agents are equipped with expertise about their environment in order to detect and overcome specific types of problem, they make use of their social knowledge to mutually adjust their activities, and they are coerced toward coherent collective behavior through normative rules. The proposed model is formalized theoretically within game theory and realized by means of an agent architecture. It is assessed experimentally by building a prototype of a distributed decision support system for road traffic management and compared to an alternative model based on a centralized architecture. A valuable feature of the work is that it not only promotes a well-founded formal model of coordination in artificial agent societies but also applies it in an operational software architecture organized as a society of intelligent agents to solve real-world problems.
