Sir Martin Mar-All John Dryden,2024-04-16 Sir Martin Mar-All is a comedy play written by John Dryden, one of the prominent literary figures of the Restoration period in England. It was first performed in 1667 and is known for its wit, satire, and humorous depiction of social manners and relationships typical of its time. The play revolves around the character of Sir Martin Mar-All, a wealthy but foolish knight who is easily deceived by those around him. Through a series of comedic situations and misunderstandings, Sir Martin's attempts to control his wife and household lead to chaos and confusion. Alongside Sir Martin, the play features a colorful cast of characters, including his clever wife Lady Dupe, his cunning servant Warner, and various other schemers and manipulators. Sir Martin Mar-All is characterized by its witty dialogue, intricate plot twists, and satirical commentary on the social conventions and hypocrisies of Restoration England. It explores themes such as deception, marriage, and the clash between appearance and reality.

Masks and Facades Madeleine Bingham,2023-07-14 First published in 1974, Masks and Facades paints an authentic picture of John Vanbrugh as a man of character, talent, wit and charm, moving in an age where patronage held the key to worldly advancement. Yet against a backcloth of theatre, of the great palaces of the aristocracy, and the sycophancy which Court, rank and riches demanded, he always remained his own man. Whether imprisoned in the Bastille as the 'guest' of Louis XIV, or in his long contest with the insufferable Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough over the building of Blenheim, he invariably retained his balance and good humour, and as he said of one of his own buildings, 'presented a manly appearance.' This book will be of interest to students of history and literature.

The Devil in Velvet John Dickson Carr,2014-11-11 To solve a centuries-old crime, a man makes a deal with the devil: "The fantasy, the murder and the historical action are . . . all wonderful" (San Francisco Chronicle). An aging scholar of Restoration history, Nicholas Fenton has long dreamed of traveling into the past. He has a date in mind—May 10, 1675—as well as a purpose: to solve the murder case of the woman he loves, his rakehell ancestor’s lovely wife. Obsessed with delivering her from danger, he turns to an unlikely accomplice: the devil. After striking a bargain with the prince of darkness, Fenton awakens in the seventeenth century in the much-younger body of dashing Sir Nick Fenton. In an era when gentlemen died by the blade, Fenton is handy with a rapier, and his knowledge of local history gives him a leg up on the swashbucklers who would have his hide. But while his sword may help him rescue his beloved, it will take more than that to save his soul. Even in 1675, the devil is in the details.
