M3A1 Scout Car David Doyle,2019-02-28 The M3A1 Scout Car, produced by White Motor Company of Cleveland, Ohio, served as the US Cavalry's primary scouting and reconnaissance vehicle during the early days of the US entry into WWII. A powerful Hercules engine, four-wheel drive, and relatively light weight gave the vehicle both impressive on-road speed and reasonable off-road maneuverability. Typically armed with a trio of heavy and light machine guns, the vehicle was not intended to slug it out with the enemy, but rather to locate the enemy and, through its impressive array of radio equipment, report the positions to more heavily armed forces. Through dozens of archival photos, including previously unpublished images, as well as details of some of the finest existing examples, this iconic vehicle is explored and its history is explained. Part of the Legends of Warfare series.

The Boy Scout Automobilists Edward Maitland,2023-07-18 The Boy Scout Automobilists by Robert Maitland is an exhilarating tale that combines the spirit of adventure with the principles of the Boy Scouts. Set in a time when automobiles were a new and exciting technology, this captivating story follows a group of Boy Scouts as they embark on a thrilling journey, exploring the open road and putting their scouting skills to the test. Led by their courageous and resourceful scoutmaster, Mr. Howard, the Boy Scout troop dives headfirst into the world of automobilism. They learn about the mechanics of cars, the rules of the road, and the importance of safety. With their knowledge and determination, they transform an old, run-down automobile into a magnificent vehicle capable of taking them on unforgettable adventures. As the boys hit the road, they encounter a series of challenges and obstacles that test their skills and character. From navigating treacherous mountain roads to aiding stranded travelers, the Boy Scout Automobilists exemplify the values of teamwork, preparedness, and service to others. Along the way, they learn important lessons about responsibility, perseverance, and the power of friendship. Through their expeditions, the Boy Scouts explore the wonders of the natural world, marvel at the beauty of scenic landscapes, and experience the thrill of self-reliance. They develop a deep appreciation for the environment and learn to care for it, always leaving their campgrounds cleaner than they found them. The Boy Scout Automobilists is not just a thrilling adventure; it also emphasizes the importance of responsible automobile use and upholding the principles of scouting. The story highlights the positive impact that young individuals can have on their communities when they embody the spirit of scouting and use their skills for the betterment of others. With its blend of exciting escapades, practical knowledge, and moral lessons, The Boy Scout Automobilists captures the essence of the Boy Scouts and inspires young readers to embrace the values of courage, preparedness, and service. It encourages them to explore their surroundings, engage in responsible outdoor activities, and become responsible citizens who make a positive difference in the world.

Early US Armor Steven J. Zaloga,2018-02-22 The first American armoured cars began to emerge around the turn of the century, seeing their first military use in 1916 during the Punitive Expedition against Pancho Villa. When the United States entered World War I, the American Expeditionary Forces used some armoured cars in France, and American armoured cars were used by the French Army. The inter-war years saw considerable innovation and experimentation in armoured car design. Of the 1930s scout car designs, the M3A1 scout car was good enough to be produced in very large numbers in World War II, and was widely exported to many other armies via Lend-Lease. It also served as the basis for the late M2 and M3 armoured half-tracks. In this study, using detailed full colour plates and rigorous analysis, US armour expert Steven J. Zaloga chronicles the development of the US armoured car in the years leading up to World War II.

M3 / M3a1 Scout Car and M2 Mortar Motor Carriage Technical Manual War Department,2012-07 Designed and built by the White Motor Company, the M3 Scout Car saw service as a command vehicle, ambulance, gun tractor and patrol and scout vehicle during WWII. Over 21,000 were built between 1937 and 1944 - the vast majority of them the M3A1 variant, which had a longer and wider hull than the original production vehicles. Both the M3 and M3A1 had a six cylinder gas engine (a diesel variant M3A1E1 was produced for a short time), and could carry up to seven men at a top speed of 55-65 mph depending on configuration. Both had a radiator protected by an armored shutter, and a shatter-proof windshield. The M3A1 also carried a front-mounted roller to prevent it from bogging down on muddy ground, and could carry three machine guns (two .30 calibers and one .50) on a hull-mounted skate rail. The M3A1 saw service in the Pacific, North Africa and Europe, with over 3,000 handed to the Soviet Union via lend-lease. While it performed admirably enough in the field the open top design, light armament and poor off-road characteristics led most Army units to replace it with the M8 armored car and M20 utility car by 1944. Originally produced in 1941, this technical manual was standard issue to M3, M3A1, and M2 crews. Originally restricted, this manual was declassified long ago and is here reprinted in book form.

American Wheeled Armoured Fighting Vehicles Michael Green,2016-10-31 Numerous wheeled armoured fighting vehicles have seen service in the US armed forces on and off for over 80 years. There have been various changes of policy and twice, after the Second World War and Vietnam, they went out of favour but their use is now well established. This well researched and superbly illustrated book describes all the different types and variants since the first M1 was ordered in 1931. The M8 armoured car was widely used during World War Two but it was not until Vietnam that further wheeled AFVs came into service, notably the M706 armoured car. After a lull the US Marine Corps adopted the Light Armoured Vehicle (LAV) in 1983. The US Army first used armoured Humvees in 1994 and variants remain in service (M1141 and M1116). Other types today include the Guardian (M1117) and the Army version of the LAV names the  Stryker . To meet the operational requirements of Iraq and Afghanistan the Mine Resistant Ambush Protected vehicle (MRAP) was ordered in bulk from 2007.

M8 Greyhound Light Armored Car 1941–91 Steven J. Zaloga,2012-09-20 The M8 light armored car was the only significant wheeled combat vehicle used by the US Army in World War II. In conjunction with the lightly armed utility version, the M20, it was the staple of the army's cavalry squadrons for use in reconnaissance and scouting. First entering combat in Italy in 1943, it was widely used throughout the campaign in northwest Europe, though its off-road performance was found to be wanting. This title describes the design and development of the M8, covering the many variants that were produced during World War II and afterwards, along with a comprehensive survey of its operational use.

American Tanks & AFVs of World War II Michael Green,2014-07-20 The entry of the US into World War II provided the Allies with the industrial might to finally take the war to German and Japanese forces across the world. Central to this was the focus of the American military industrial complex on the manufacture of tanks and armoured fighting vehicles. Between 1939 and 1945, 88,140 tanks and 18,620 other armored vehicles were built – almost twice the number that Germany and Great Britain combined were able to supply. In this lavishly illustrated volume, armour expert Michael Green examines the dizzying array of machinery fielded by the US Army, from the famed M4 Sherman, M3 Stuart and M3 Lee through to the half-tracks, armored cars, self-propelled artillery, tank destroyers, armored recovery vehicles and tracked landing vehicles that provided the armoured fist that the Allies needed to break Axis resistance in Europe and the Pacific. Publishing in paperback for the first time and packed with historical and contemporary colour photography, this encyclopedic new study details the design, development, and construction of these vehicles, their deployment in battle and the impact that they had on the outcome of the war.
