

Silver Sword

Ian Serraillier

The Silver Sword David Zindell, 2008-04 Valashu and his companions continue on the quest to find The Lightstone. Many battles, much introspection, and a strong love subplot complicate our hero's journey.

Silver, Sword, and Stone Marie Arana, 2020-08-18 Winner, American Library Association Booklist's Top of the List, 2019 Adult Nonfiction Acclaimed writer Marie Arana delivers a cultural history of Latin America and the three driving forces that have shaped the character of the region: exploitation (silver), violence (sword), and religion (stone). "Meticulously researched, [this] book's greatest strengths are the power of its epic narrative, the beauty of its prose, and its rich portrayals of character...Marvelous" (The Washington Post). Leonor Gonzales lives in a tiny community perched 18,000 feet above sea level in the Andean cordillera of Peru, the highest human habitation on earth. Like her late husband, she works the gold mines much as the Indians were forced to do at the time of the Spanish Conquest. Illiteracy, malnutrition, and disease reign as they did five hundred years ago. And now, just as then, a miner's survival depends on a vast global market whose fluctuations are controlled in faraway places. Carlos Buergos is a Cuban who fought in the civil war in Angola and now lives in a quiet community outside New Orleans. He was among hundreds of criminals Cuba expelled to the US in 1980. His story echoes the violence that has coursed through the Americas since before Columbus to the crushing savagery of the Spanish Conquest, and from 19th- and 20th-century wars and revolutions to the military crackdowns that convulse Latin America to this day. Xavier Albó is a Jesuit priest from Barcelona who emigrated to Bolivia, where he works among the indigenous people. He considers himself an Indian in head and heart and, for this, is well known in his adopted country. Although his aim is to learn rather than proselytize, he is an inheritor of a checkered past, where priests marched alongside conquistadors, converting the natives to Christianity, often forcibly, in the effort to win the New World. Ever since, the Catholic Church has played a central role in the political life of Latin America—sometimes for good, sometimes not. In this “timely and excellent volume” (NPR) Marie Arana seamlessly weaves these stories with the history of the past millennium to explain three enduring themes that have defined Latin America since pre-Columbian times: the foreign greed for its mineral riches, an ingrained propensity to violence, and the abiding power of religion. Silver, Sword, and Stone combines “learned historical analysis with in-depth reporting and political commentary...[and] an informed and authoritative voice, one that deserves a wide audience” (The New York Times Book Review).

The Silver Sword Ian Serraillier, 1983

The Silver Sword Ian Serraillier, 2012 The story of four children's struggle to stay alive throughout the years of Nazi occupation and, afterwards, their epic journey from war-torn Poland to Switzerland in search of their parents.

The Silver Sword Ian Serraillier, 1960 Jan treasures the silver sword which she claims will bring her luck and those around her.

The Silver Sword Angela Elwell Hunt, 2009-09-22 The auburned-haired O'Connor women share a bond far deeper than their striking physical appearance: These courageous, high-spirited women all push against societal limits in this exciting historical, romantic novel that spans generations and countries. It is said that as Cahira, daughter of the great Irish king Rory O'Connor, lay dying of a wound from a Norman blade, she beseeched God that others would follow her calling. To Kathleen O'Connor, Cahira's story was nothing more than a fable--until research divulged that the tale was true. As a stunned Kathleen realizes that she herself bears the mark of Cahira, she wonders if she is destined to continue the legacy. To uncover the answers, Kathleen delves into the past to find the truth about the Heirs of Cahira O'Connor. It is a journey that carries her across generations, from the battlefields of 13th-century Ireland to the castles of 15th-century Prague, and through a past filled with peril, courage, vengeance, love, and sacrifice beyond anything she has ever known.

The Lightstone David Zindell,2002

Silver Sword Katheryn Hazlett,2020-09-22 Andre di'Corsovas isn't your typical Weidmoorish lady. She has no patience for needlework and no ear for music. Fashion and cosmetics and jewels hold little interest for her. The future countess feels more at home in the training yard, sword in hand, than gossiping in the parlour. Following a prophecy, the Lady of Earth claims Andre as her Champion, tasked with protecting innocent life from those who would threaten it. To symbolise this, the Lady gives Andre a magical sword, forged from pure silver. When an old rival from her childhood returns at the head of an invading army, Andre takes up her silver sword to stop him. But Awyrian warriors are not the only danger. An ancient, life-stealing magic seeks the destruction of everything Andre holds dear. As the conflict escalates, Andre grapples with many trials and troubles, but one question looms heavily above all else. How much would you sacrifice for the ones you love?

The Silver Sword Ian Serraillier,John Escott,1995-01-01

The Lightstone David Zindell, 2019-06-20 A born warrior who cannot bear to go to war, a master of the sword who cannot kill his enemies without feeling the pain of death himself . . . Valashu Elahad, seventh son of a king and a descendent of the Valari Star People who settled the world of Ea long ago, comes to manhood in late in the Age of the Dragon. It is a dark time of war and the dashed dreams of long-lost ages. The peoples of Ea have forgotten their purpose of becoming immortal Elijin, who, in turn, through disciplines of the body and spirit, evolve into the Galadin: great, luminous beings who can never be killed. They have also mostly forgotten how to use the lost gelstei jewels that power the interstellar civilization they know little of. Val, who is blessed (or cursed?) with empathy for all living things, would like nothing more than to become a great scholar, play his flute, and learn of these matters. But once again Morjin, the fallen Elijin, is seeking the way to free Angra Mainyu, the Lord of Lies imprisoned on the world of Damoom for a million years. Once again, the free peoples of Ea will be called to fight to the death if they do not want to see their world destroyed. Strangely, though, it is also a time of light. For the earth and sun have once again entered the Golden Band and Ea's greatest king has called a quest to find the Lightstone: the great golden gelstei that can restore the ruined civilization that Ea has become. Fate impels Val to set out with his companions into the heart of darkness in order to recover the Lightstone. Greatness of soul is needed in order even to perceive the golden cup, and this Val must achieve before fighting the most desperate of fights. First, though, he must recover the silver gelstei, the silver sword Alkaladur, for the silver points the way to the gold. This will not be easy. For Morjin seeks all the gelstei, the golden cup most of all, and he hounds Val all across Ea. Val knows that he must someday face the fallen angel in battle, but he is afraid because a great scryer has foretold that: His fate is yours. If you kill him, you kill yourself . . . The Lightstone: Part Two: The Silver Sword is the second volume of Book 1 of the internationally acclaimed Ea Cycle.

If you enjoy fast-paced adventure, a startling new cosmology, and an intricately-made world as rich as Tolkien's and with all the magic of an Arthurian romance, you'll love this book. Buy The Lightstone today to join in an ancient and timeless quest.

Silversword Charles Knief,2001-06-22 Knief's heart-of-gold hero whiles away the hours as he convalesces from a near-fatal bullet wound. When he agrees to help a young student save some priceless artifacts of Hawaiian history, he figures that's something he can handle from his couch--or can he?

The Silver Sword Jan Serraillier,2001 It starts off in World War Two, yet it is not sad and made my heart thud when reading the blurb. Ruth, Edek and Bronia are alone in the chaos of war and join them through their love, happiness and friendship as they begin a dangerous journey across the battlefields of Europe to meet with their parents in Switzerland. They meet an orphaned boy, Jan, who has a passion for animals and stealing. Join them on a five year journey through highs, lows, losses and discovery
