Children of Arnhem's Kaleidoscope Graham Wilson,2014-08-20 It was hot. There was sudden stillness in the late afternoon air and the surface of the small waterhole shone with unnatural smoothness. Fresh pig tracks at water's edge suggested pigs just gone. Two bubbles popped to the surface near the edge of the pool; just decaying vegetation, said my mind. I should have smelt crocodile! A story of a missionary family in remote aboriginal Australia. What is it about the Northern Territory that fascinates? I have only to mention it's name in conversation and people turn to listen. Why, for 180 years, has it drawn people from all over to come, stay longer than they imagined and, often, never leave? This book is a memoir of a family's life in a remote aboriginal community, in Australia's Northern Territory, something the equivalent of remote Canada or Alaska, where few people go. The place Oenpelli, (now Gunbalanya) is near Kadadu National Park, made famous in Crocodile Dundee. This story tells of changing world as a missionary family and an aboriginal community become part of modern Australia This our family's story, growing amongst the people, animals and places and colours of this this strange land, alongside an aboriginal community going through its own changes; citizenship, alcohol, uranium mining, land rights, outstation development, and community self management. It is a memoir of growing up in one of the most isolated parts of Australia - in a small aboriginal missionary community in the Northern Territory, something the equivalent of the remote Canada or Alaska. It is the landscape featured in the movie Crocodile Dundee. It tells of the huge change in this place in the last half century with the coming of land rights and aboriginal self determination. It also tells of my mother and fathers lives and Christian beliefs which motivated their contribution to this change. It is a story of my memories and love for this remote and beautiful place, in which I lived as a child then worked as an adult and of many NT characters who gave me the memories. It is also the story of me working as an adult across many parts of the NT and about the hardy, outlandish characters that inhabit this place. It also tells of my own experience of surviving attack by a large crocodile in a remote swamp It also provides a foundation for my novels in the Crocodile Spirit Dreaming Series. The places in these books are the places in which I lived and worked and many of the stories came little changed from people I knew. In particular my experience in surviving a crocodile attack of a large saltwater crocodile, which mauled my leg as told in this book forms part of the central role of the crocodile as a predator in this novel series. The role of my father in opening road transport including building a crossing of the East Alligator River, developing outstations for aboriginal communities, learning to fly on missionary wages and establishing an aviation service along with assisting the aboriginal peoples of this land to gain royalties from mining is a story that deserves to be told as a major part of NT history. Along with his tireless work the contribution of many others is also an essential part of the story.

Conversations With Form N. John Habraken,Andrés Mignucci,Jonathan Teicher,2014-06-20 Through a progressive series of exercises - accompanied by observational studies, examples and applied theory - Conversations with Form: A Workbook for Students of Architecture improves designers' understanding, dexterity and resilience in making form. It specifically focuses on the skills needed to succeed in the everyday context in which the vast majority of architects will ultimately design and build, wherein no one designs in isolation and existing conditions never represent a tabula rasa. The text begins by familiarizing readers with utilizing step-by-step sequences of moves to steer the development of built form and rapidly moves to designs of increasing complexity. These design plays treat a wide-ranging series of topics including structures, patterns, types, systems and other kinds of shared form principles. Conversations with Form is a workbook for honing hands-on skills and tools of the architect's trade. Beautifully illustrated and focused on practical, usable information, the book provides architectural students with an accessible and useable handbook for their design practice.

Blackhole doing Yoga Premyogi Vajra,2023-07-17 This short book is dedicated to Chandrayaan-3 launch. Dear readers, today's time is the time of climax of science. Due to the untiring work of scientists, the world has solved many so-called inexplicable puzzles of quantum science and space science. But now the needle of science is stuck in invisible elements like blackhole, dark matter and dark energy. It seems that these invisible things are connected with yoga and spirituality. Anyway, even if science has got an indirect idea about their form, they can be known fully only by feeling those. When even such subtle elements cannot be proved without feeling, then how can God, who is the most transcendent and the most subtle, be known without direct feeling? Undoubtedly, science will also get an idea of God someday, but it will be fully achieved only through experiencing him, won't it? Yoga gives such subtle experiences. Probably that's why nowadays the craze for yoga is increasing in the world, even among scientists. In this book, the path of salvation for human beings has been explained scientifically in very easy words. It is based across the same Vedic mantra, “yatpinde tat brahmande” means ‘what is there inside the body, the same thing is there inside the universe too’. It has been shown that not only human beings do spiritual works related to yoga, liberation etc., but everything in this universe moves on this path. This gives a man firm faith in these, so that he does not hesitate to walk on the path of self-welfare. At the same time, this book also whets the appetite for science, especially space science and some quantum science. It also sheds good light on the most mysterious and amazing cosmic object like blackhole, and proves that the soul is actually blackhole itself, which is eager to unite with the supreme sky in the form of God. I have also authored a separate book on Space science and Quantum science as enlisted at the end of this book. While not writing much, I pause with the hope that the present book will come true to the aspirations of the space-loving and spirituality-loving readers.
