Fascination snow groomers Klaus Bergdolt, Experienced author Klaus Bergdolt leaves no detail out of the subject of snow groomers and describes in detail the special problems of hard winter operation. He presents many different types of vehicles, and the range of scales extends from the Dickie Snow King in 1:16, to the self-built groomer in 1:8 scale. An impressive wealth of pictures and numerous drawings clarify the easy-to-understand text. Of course, attachments and products for sale are not neglected. From different types of snow ploughs, equipment on the loading platform, some exclusive trailing equipment, to two fully functional snow blowers, this book leaves no questions unanswered. Something completely new are the short stories From Life: six entertaining field reports in which the reader gets to know the fascination of a winter model from a yet unknown perspective. From the content: • Model operation of snow-compatible tracked vehicles • Alternative playing surface • Basic vehicle construction • Everything about self-built tracks • Special features of the guide wheel axle • Drive concepts • Tips and tricks for self-build transmissions • A metal cab in different scales • The front carrier with various attachments • The importance of the tilt function • Snow thrower and snow blower • The rear implement carrier • Powered self-build blowers • Overhead winches • RC control options • The electrical fittings, lighting etc. • The working snow blower • Turntable-free tips for threaded spindles • Dealer directory • Six field reports From life

Outdoor Recreation David Huddart, Tim Stott, 2019-10-25 This textbook presents a comprehensive overview of the environmental impacts of various types of outdoor recreation, and how these can be best managed. As a field of study, recreational ecology is both multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary, and the authors seek to develop a deeper understanding of both the role and function of the factors that influence visitor numbers and their impact. An accessible and comprehensive textbook, it features numerous types of outdoor recreational activities including hill walking, rock climbing, mountain marathons, skiing, scuba diving and more. Drawn from several global case studies, the authors estimate the current and future numbers involved in outdoor recreation, and how best these numbers can be managed. Effective visitor impact management actions arise from collaboration between recreation ecologists, social scientists, experienced recreation managers, recreation stakeholders and the recreationalists themselves: as such, this book will be multi-disciplinary in scope. This practical and engaging textbook will be invaluable to students and scholars of outdoor recreation and adventure tourism as well as practitioners and managers working in the field.

Social Ecology Helmut Haberl, Marina Fischer-Kowalski, Fridolin Krausmann, Verena Winiwarter, 2016-07-01 This book presents the current state of the art in Social Ecology as practiced by the Vienna School of Social Ecology, globally one of the main research groups in this field. As a significant contribution to the growing literature on interdisciplinary sustainability studies, the book introduces the purpose and nature of Social Ecology and then places the “Vienna School” within the broader context of socioecological and other interdisciplinary environmental approaches. The conceptual and methodological foundations of Social Ecology are discussed in detail, allowing the reader to obtain a broad overview of current socioecological thinking. Issues covered include socio-metabolic transitions, socioecological approaches to land use, the relation between actor-centered and system approaches, a socioecological theory of labor and the importance of legacies, as conceived in Environmental History and in Long-Term Socio-Ecological Research. To underpin this overview empirically, the strengths of socioecological research are elucidated in cases of cutting-edge research, introducing a variety of themes the Vienna School has been tackling empirically over the past years. Given how the field is presented – reflecting research carried out on different scales, reaching from local to global as well as from past to present and future – and due to the way the book is structured, it is suitable for classroom use, as a primer, and also as an overview of how Social Ecology evolved, right up to its current research frontiers.

Challenging Ideas Maren Lytje,Torben K. Nielsen,2016-01-14 Challenging Ideas is a selection of articles which address the intersections between theory and empirical research. In general, the contributions to the volume focus on how imaginations of the temporal relationship between past and present might inform theory as well as empirical research. It is divided into two parts, the first of which, Memory, looks at the memory turn in the discipline of history, and includes investigations into the relationship between past and present in the working through of trauma and reflections on the relationship between media memory, collective memory and trauma. The second part of the volume, History looks at the intersections between social science, political theory and the writing of history. This section includes reflections on how the historian's archival work might inform the construction of social and political theory and explorations of the temporal relationship between past and present at work in the archives. The contributions to this volume encourage historically oriented scholars to approach their work with an active interest in disciplines close to their topic and a reflexive attentiveness to the broader power relations within which they work. They offer different perspectives on the intrinsic relationship between past and present at work in the interactions between theory and empirical research, and thereby give impetus to challenging ideas and to the challenging of ideas in the social sciences and in the humanities.
