Escape From The Soviets Tatiana Tchernavin,2013-04-16 Escape From The Soviets was written by Tatiana Tchernavin in 1933 from her hospital bed and later translated from the Russian by N. Alexander. This is a fresh account of this journey, but more importantly, an early account of what actually made it necessary; the increasing persecutions by Stalin's police state, especially as it was affecting the academic, scientific and engineering classes of the USSR from 1918-1932.

My Personal Collection. Magnum Opus Tatiana Sheremeteva,2020-05-26 My Personal Collection is the fifth book by renowned author, Tatiana Sheremeteva. Published under an intriguing and provocative title, the book is by no means a series of stories about love and passion or romance. On the contrary, it is a reflection of the author's experiences, portraying her memorable punch lines, aphorisms, cute posts on Facebook, and phrases from her already published stories and novels that are widely quoted by readers, having assumed a life of their own. Of particular relevance is the section that contains Tatiana's critique of works by her fellow authors. The last part of the book is Tatiana's interview, or rather a transcript of the freehearted talk, with Vera Sukhinina, author of the Lady 40 Plus Project. My Personal Collection is a digest of the best writing by author Tatiana Sheremeteva. That's why it has a subtitle - Magnum Opus. Личная коллекция - пятая книга известного автора Татьяны Шереметевой с интригующим и провокационным названием. В ней пойдёт речь отнюдь не о любовных похождениях или бурных романах. Напротив, книга - это обобщённый опыт автора, содержащий самые яркие её высказывания, афоризмы, остроумные посты в Фейсбуке, выдержки из уже опубликованных повестей и романов, которые разошлись на цитаты и обрели самостоятельную жизнь. Отдельного упоминания заслуживает раздел, в котором приводятся критические статьи писателя на произведения её коллег по литературному цеху. Завершает книгу интервью, а вернее откровенный разговор Татьяны Шереметевой с Верой Сухининой, автором проекта Леди сорок плюс. Личная коллекция - это дайджест лучших текстов автора. И потому неслучаен здесь второй заголовок Magnum Opus.

Hotel White Angel Tatiana Demakova,2021-08 A lonely French woman named Madame Duval, owner of a hotel on the Cote d'Azur, was looking for her rightful heir. Vladimir Lozhkin, a man with a criminal past, responded to the request of the Parisian genealogical firm from St. Petersburg. Unraveling the situation was not easy. In the history of the ancient family, the fates of the French and Russians, who lived in different eras in Nice, Moscow, St. Petersburg and Paris, were intricately intertwined. Who is he, the real heir?

Choices Tatiana Androsof,2019-09-11 Long before this beautiful young woman from Long Island found herself in the depths of Africa, she could never have guessed how a change of worlds would affect her life. Email, cellphones, Nine Eleven, and the Me Too Movement had not yet happened, but Cleo's vision was ahead of her time. Working in the international system, she shares her journey as she experiences rags to riches cultures in several continents and struggles with important choices between her ideals and her personal life.

A Patchwork Quilt of Memories Tatiana Guliaeff,2012-11-02 Tatiana Oztoup Guliaeff was born in 1935 in Berlin, Germany. Her parents were Russian emigrants fleeing Bolshevik persecution. Her mother was a famous silent screen star. In 1939, her father abandoned her and her mother and moved to Spain. Tatiana and her mother endured the hardships of Berlin during World War II. After the War, they moved among various camps to avoid repatriation to, and certain death in, Russia. Eventually, she and her mother immigrated to the U.S. and ended up in San Francisco. Tatiana spent her youth there where she met and married Nicholas Guliaeff, another Russian emigre. Tatiana and Nicholas raised three sons in and around the Bay Area. The enclosed stories and vignettes are based on Tatiana's life experiences and are generously embellished by her thoughts and feelings into a lovely Patchwork Quilt of Memories.

An Estonian Childhood Tania Alexander,2010-07 In her introduction Tania Alexander writes, 'The Baltic philosopher Count Hermann Keyserling . . . once remarked: ''I am not a Dane, not a German, not a Swede, not a Russian nor an Estonian, so what am I - a little of all these.'' Tania Alexander felt the same, 'I share his sense of confused identity.' She was born in St Petersburg, but as a young child was taken to Estonia, at that time a province of Russia which was later to become the northernmost of the three independent Baltic States created in the aftermath of the First World War. The tone of her memoir, mainly set in Kallijärv, is almost idyllic, surprisingly so given the political upheaval of the period. In her own words 'my early life was influenced by three women, all of them complex characters and strong personalities, who had to find their own way of adapting to very different from those they might have expected to enjoy. My Irish governess, Micky, sacrificed her family and suffered exile - a mother ostracised by the pressure of Victorian values. My Aunt Zoria lost everyone who was dear to her, as well as her homeland and her position in society. And my mother, who stayed behind in Russia throughout the terrifying events of the revolution and civil war, lost her home, her husband and, perhaps most important to her, her great love - a loss which profoundly affected the rest of her life.' Her mother was Baroness Moura Budberg and 'her great love' was the famous diplomat and spy, Robert Bruce Lockhart, expelled from Russia in 1918. Among her other lovers were Maxim Gorky and H. G. Wells who both feature in this memoir. In his review, Harrison Salisbury refers to 'a world which now seems almost beyond our belief . . .' That is true, and yet there an unexpected link with today's UK political scene: Moura Budberg was Nick Clegg's great, great aunt. The lineage is like this: Moura Budberg's sister, Alexandra, was the mother of Clegg's grandmother, Baroness Kira von Engelhardt, who was born in Russia in 1909. 'Reminiscent of a story by Turgenev. Delightful.' Sunday Telegraph 'History, biography, an exploration of the relationship between mother and daughter: Tania Alexander's book is a little of all these.' Times Literary Supplement 'An engaging memoir full of vivid portraits. There is Gorky, a compassionate giant among the Bolsheviks; there is H. G. Wells, and there are the comforting figures who surrounded Tania at Kalljärv, her Irish governess, Micky, Uncle Sahsa, inconsolable over the defeat of the Tsarist regime, and a host of cousins and friends.' Financial Times 'Tania Alexander has written an unforgettable memoir of a world which now seems almost beyond our belief - the pre-revolutionary Russian era and that followed, it a tale that inevitably centres around the the figure of her remarkable mother, the Baroness Moura Budberg - her life in Tsarist society, in the Bolshevik society of Lenin and Gorky, and later that of H. G. Wells and England. There is nothing else quite like it.' Harrison Salisbury Memory and Theory in Eastern Europe Uilleam Blacker,Alexander Etkind,2013-09-11 It is the aim of this volume to investigate how academic practices of Memory Studies are being applied, adapted, and transformed in the countries of East-Central Europe and the former Soviet Union. It affords a new, startlingly different perspective for scholars of both Eastern European history and Memory Studies.

War and Memory in Russia, Ukraine and Belarus Julie Fedor,Markku Kangaspuro,Jussi Lassila,Tatiana Zhurzhenko,2017-12-05 This edited collection contributes to the current vivid multidisciplinary debate on East European memory politics and the post-communist instrumentalization and re-mythologization of World War II memories. The book focuses on the three Slavic countries of post-Soviet Eastern Europe – Russia, Ukraine and Belarus – the epicentre of Soviet war suffering, and the heartland of the Soviet war myth. The collection gives insight into the persistence of the Soviet commemorative culture and the myth of the Great Patriotic War in the post-Soviet space. It also demonstrates that for geopolitical, cultural, and historical reasons the political uses of World War II differ significantly across Ukraine, Russia and Belarus, with important ramifications for future developments in the region and beyond. The chapters 'Introduction: War and Memory in Russia, Ukraine and Belarus', 'From the Trauma of Stalinism to the Triumph of Stalingrad: The Toponymic Dispute over Volgograd' and 'The “Partisan Republic”: Colonial Myths and Memory Wars in Belarus' are published open access under a CC BY 4.0 license at link.springer.com. The chapter 'Memory, Kinship, and Mobilization of the Dead: The Russian State and the “Immortal Regiment” Movement' is published open access under a CC BY-NC-ND 4.0 license at link.springer.com.
