Sticky Caramel T E Storm, 2021-12-11 Outwardly, Darcie Ryan is on track to have everything she desires. She's an over achiever with a high-end professional job. She maintains her slim physique without effort. She dates the guy other women want to bed. However, her age is catching up with her. By her thirties, she thought she'd be happily settled with a partner and a brood of children. Unfortunately, her life's schedule doesn't match her body clock's. This clock is now clanging loudly! Her libido is also stewing. Her commitment phobic boyfriend is nothing more than a 'handbag' hanging off her arm. Every other single male she knows isn't worth a serious thought either. Her poor luck with men doesn't stop her body from exacting its revenge on her for her lack of progress towards baking her own brood. Whilst she's holidaying in the Middle East, Darcie faints from the sight of lots of blood, hers, on the floor in a public bathroom. On her return to Australia, she discovers she has benign tumours in her womb. Whilst these aren't life threatening, Darcie feels her grip on the career ladder slipping. She is exhausted, lonely and directionless. Her gynaecologist says, 'Darcie, think of life as sticky caramel dripping from your fingertips. Either you wash away the stickiness and whatever chances life offers you. Or you lick every droplet of stickiness and savour every experience life gives you. Stop dictating the path for your life and let life lead you instead.' Sticky Caramel is a hilarious tongue in cheek novel about fertility, disastrous relationships and aspirations that single women in their thirties tussle with.

Caramelo Sandra Cisneros, 2013-04-30 NATIONAL BESTSELLER • Every year, Ceyala “Lala” Reyes' family—aunts, uncles, mothers, fathers, and Lala's six older brothers—packs up three cars and, in a wild ride, drive from Chicago to the Little Grandfather and Awful Grandmother's house in Mexico City for the summer. From the celebrated bestselling author of The House on Mango Street and winner of the 2019 PEN/Nabokov Award for Achievement in International Literature. Struggling to find a voice above the boom of her brothers and to understand her place on this side of the border and that, Lala is a shrewd observer of family life. But when she starts telling the Awful Grandmother's life story, seeking clues to how she got to be so awful, grandmother accuses Lala of exaggerating. Soon, a multigenerational family narrative turns into a whirlwind exploration of storytelling, lies, and life. Like the cherished rebozo, or shawl, that has been passed down through generations of Reyes women, Caramelo is alive with the vibrations of history, family, and love. From the winner of the 2019 PEN/Nabokov Award for Achievement in International Literature.

Feliz Cumpleaños, Caramelo Michaël Escoffier, 2022

In the Spirit of a New People Randy J. Ontiveros, 2014 Reexamining the Chicano civil rights movement of the 1960s and 1970s, In the Spirit of a New People brings to light new insights about social activism in the twentieth-century and new lessons for progressive politics in the twenty-first. Randy J. Ontiveros explores the ways in which Chicano/a artists and activists used fiction, poetry, visual arts, theater, and other expressive forms to forge a common purpose and to challenge inequality in America. Focusing on cultural politics, Ontiveros reveals neglected stories about the Chicano movement and its impact: how writers used the street press to push back against the network news; how visual artists such as Santa Barraza used painting, installations, and mixed media to challenge racism in mainstream environmentalism; how El Teatro Campesino's innovative “actos,” or short skits, sought to embody new, more inclusive forms of citizenship; and how Sandra Cisneros and other Chicana novelists broadened the narrative of the Chicano movement. In the Spirit of a New People articulates a fresh understanding of how the Chicano movement contributed to the social and political currents of postwar America, and how the movement remains meaningful today.
