The Encyclopaedia Britannica: Refectory-Sainte Beuve , 1911 The last great work of the age of reason, the final instance when all human knowledge could be presented with a single point of view ... Unabashed optimism, and unabashed racism, pervades many entries in the 11th, and provide its defining characteristics ... Despite its occasional ugliness, the reputation of the 11th persists today because of the staggering depth of knowledge contained within its volumes. It is especially strong in its biographical entries. These delve deeply into the history of men and women prominent in their eras who have since been largely forgotten - except by the historians, scholars-- The Guardian,

Nickel Cadmium Cells for Use in Portable Instruments and Several Methods of Recharging Them R. L. Hopton,1961 An evaluation is presented of several types of nickel cadmium rechargeable cells under consideration for sealed and nonsealed portable instrument systems. Temperature, discharge rate, capacity, rechargeability and interchangeability were found generally satisfactory where the different terminal voltage requirements per cell were compatible with the existing instrument. Types of cells ranging from the D size down to a button type of 50 ma-hr capacity were tested and methods of recharging them considered. A universal, series regulator type charger is discussed which will charge these cells in the constant voltage mode. Also discussed is a silicon solar cell charger for use where adequate light is available. (Author).
