France/China Alex Hughes, 2018-12-13 China has long been an object of fascination for the French, who celebrated their année de la Chine in 2004. Symptomatic of that fascination are the movements into China made by groups as diverse as the Jesuits, who arrived in L'Empire du Milieu in the late seventeenth century, and the Tel Quel intellectuals, whose will to political pilgrimage took th

Blanc de Chine John Ayers, 2013-01-11 Dehua porcelain, or Blanc de Chine as it is known in the West, is pure ivory-white porcelain made at the Dehua kilns in the southern Chinese province of Fujian. It rose to international significance in the 17th century and inspired aristocratic patronage in the development of European porcelain. Its popularity at home and abroad continued and the kilns at Dehua remain prolific to this day. This is the first comprehensive publication since P. J. Doherty's pioneering study thirty years ago. An international group of specialists discuss how, why and when the Dehua porcelain phenomenon occurred. The book also contains a catalogue of the important Hickley Collection in Singapore. Each piece is illustrated in beautiful full colour photography.

Lettres de Chine Victor Segalen, 1993 Ces Lettres de Chine retracent les étapes journalières de cette double exploration que Segalen accomplit, de 1909 à 1910, au cœur du plus vieil empire : celle d'un esprit parti à la découverte de lui-même et celle d'un Européen cherchant à se saisir, en profondeur, de la réalité et de la vie même de l'ancien monde chinois. Servi par sa connaissance de la langue, par son don d'observateur, Segalen (1878-1919), tout au long de ces dix mois qu'il vit sur les chemins de l'antique Chine paysanne, fait une ample moisson d'images vivantes, qui ont le caractère d'évidence de l'instantané photographique. On pourra donc lire cette correspondance comme on lirait un journal de voyage.

Theory and Procedure for Determining Loads and Motions in Chine-immersed Hydrodynamic Impacts of Prismatic Bodies Emanuel Schnitzer, 1952 A theoretical method is derived for computing the motions and hydrodynamic loads during water landings of prismatic bodies involving appreciable immersion of the chines. A simplified method of computation covering flat-plate and V-bottom bodies with beam-loading coefficients greater than unity is given as a separate section. Comparisons of theory with experiment are presented as plots of impact lift coefficient and maximum draft-beam ratio against flight-path angle and as time histories of loads and motions. Fair agreement is found to exist for chine-immersed landings for angles of dead rise of 0 degrees and 30 degrees, beam-loading coefficients from 1 to 36.5, flight-path angles from 2 to 90 degrees, and trims from 6 to 45 degrees.
