DIT. Do it together Dennis Storm, 2019-10-21 Met het succesvolle Weg ermee heeft Dennis Storm duizenden geïnspireerd minimalistisch te leven. In het volgende avontuur neemt hij je mee naar de achtertuinen van Bali om te laten zien dat hobby's verre van saai zijn. Iedereen heeft wel een ambacht in de vingers of ergens aanleg voor en je kunt veel meer dan je denkt als je er maar tijd voor vrijmaakt. Bovendien... je hoeft niet alles zelf te kunnen. Waarom 'Do it yourself' als je juist kunt samenwerken met anderen? 'Do it together'! Op Bali heeft Dennis Storm 22 meubels en items gemaakt door samenwerkingen te zoeken met lokale hobbyisten en vakmannen. Het verslag daarvan vind je in woord en beeld terug in DIT: Bali Backyard Building. Sommige projecten zijn laagdrempelig (DIY), voor andere zijn meer dan twee handen nodig (DIT). Maar alles is uitvoerbaar als je er maar tijd en ruimte voor maakt en als je, waar nodig, aanklopt bij mensen die een vaardigheid beheersen die jij misschien (nog) niet in je vingers hebt. Er gaat een creatieve wereld voor je open zodra je niet enkel je eigen talenten maar ook die van je burens, vrienden en familie aanspreekt. Dennis Storm was jarenlang programmamaker en presentator van verschillende reisprogramma's. Hij is een groot liefhebber van design en architectuur en heeft een passie voor minimalisme. In 2018 verscheen zijn succesvolle debuut Weg ermee, over de schoonheid van het minimalisme.

Taking Shelter From the Storm Federal Emergency Federal Emergency Management Agency, 2014-08-19 Every year, tornadoes, hurricanes, and other extreme windstorms injure and kill people, and damage millions of dollars worth of property in the United States. Even so, more and more people build houses in tornado- and hurricane-prone areas each year, possibly putting themselves into the path of such storms. Having a shelter, or a safe room, built into your house can help you protect yourself and your family from injury or death caused by the dangerous forces of extreme winds. It can also relieve some of the anxiety created by the threat of an oncoming tornado or hurricane. Should you consider building a shelter in your house to protect yourself and your family during a tornado or hurricane? The answer depends on your answers to many questions, including: - Do you live in a high-risk area?- How quickly can you reach safe shelter during extreme winds?- What level of safety do you want to provide?- What is the cost of a shelter? This guide will help you answer these and other questions so you can decide how best to protect yourself and your family. It includes the results of research that has been underway for more than 20 years, by Texas Tech University's Wind Engineering Research Center (WERC) and other wind engineering research facilities, on the effects of extreme winds on buildings. The guide also provides shelter designs that will show you and your builder/contractor how to construct a shelter underneath a new house, in the basement of a new house, or in an interior room of a new house, or how to modify an existing house to add a shelter in one of these areas. These shelters are designed to protect you and your family from the high winds expected during tornadoes and hurricanes and from flying debris, such as wood studs, that tornadoes and hurricanes usually create. The National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) Research Center has evaluated these designs for construction methods, materials, and costs. Engineers at Texas Tech University have confirmed the design requirements for the expected forces from wind pressure and the impact of typical flying debris. The shelters are designed with life safety as the primary consideration.

My name is Mercedes Athena Thompson Hauptman, and I am a car mechanic. And a coyote shapeshifter. And the mate of the Alpha of the Columbia Basin werewolf pack. Even so, none of that would have gotten me into trouble if, a few months ago, I hadn't stood upon a bridge and taken responsibility for the safety of the citizens who lived in our territory. It seemed like the thing to do at the time. It should have only involved hunting down killer goblins, zombie goats, and an occasional troll. Instead, our home was viewed as neutral ground, a place where humans would feel safe to come and treat with the fae. The reality is that nothing and no one is safe. As generals and politicians face off with the Gray Lords of the fae, a storm is coming and her name is Death. But we are pack, and we have given our word. We will die to keep it.
