The Hollywood Storycomprehensively covers every aspect of movie-making in America, taking in nickelodeans, drive-ins and multiplexes; the transition from silent to sound, black and white to color; the relationships of producers, directors, stars and technicians; and the function and output of the studios - their major hits and most expensive flops.

Detour Cheryl Crane,Cliff Jahr,1989

The Story of Hollywood Gregory Paul Williams,2005 Before the film industry arrived, Hollywood was filled with quaint bungalows, millionaires' estates, and churches dedicated to teetotalism. Movies shattered Hollywood's tranquillity, and brought wealth, fame and glamorous movie stars. The giants of the movie industry invented klieg-lighted movie premieres and the Academy Awards in Hollywood. Go beyond the star-studded surface to the district's days of union busting, gangsters, and scandal, foreshadowing Hollywood's seedy decline. The book concludes with Hollywood's redevelopment that continues today. The book features the famous faces and places that made the town legendary, offering a unique perspective on celebrity nightlife and the behind-the-scenes stories of day-to-day life. Lavishly illustrated with over 800 vintage images from the author's private collection, The Story of Hollywood brings new insights to readers with a passion for Hollywood and its place in the history of film, radio, and television.

E! True Hollywood Story Lanford Beard,2005 Features fifteen in-depth profiles of some of Hollywood's most celebrated and controversial men and women, including Eminem, Diana Ross, Ellen DeGeneres, Liza Minnelli, Anna Nicole Smith, Doris Day, John F. Kennedy Jr., and Paris and Nicky Hilton. Includes a DVD with highlights from the E! True Hollywood Story series.

The Golden West Daniel Fuchs,2005 In the spring of 1937, Daniel Fuchs, twenty-seven years old and the author of three acclaimed novels of Brooklyn tenement life, came to Hollywood to bang out a treatment of one of his short stories. His thirteen-week contract turned into a permanent residence-and a lifelong love affair. Writing for the movies was fine, he would later recall, the freedom and fun, the hard work, but even finer were the movies themselves-team-built, mass-market miracles, brisk and full of urgent meaning. Finest of all were the people-hustling producers, inscrutable directors, cracker-jack screenwriters, and charismatic stars-their virtues and flaws and egos and disappointments all visible in high relief because the sunlight over everything was so clear and brilliant. Fuchs worked with the best: Warners and Metro and RKO, Wilder and Huston and Joe Pasternak, William Faulkner and Irwin Shaw, Raft and Cagney and Doris Day. He spent his days crafting screenplays, but off the lot he continued to write prose, mainly stories for The New Yorker and Collier's and Letters from Hollywood for Commentary. The Golden West collects, for the first time, the best of Fuchs's writings about the movie business, from a novice screenwriter's anxious diaries (1937-38) to a fifty-year veteran's mellow memoirs (1989). The centerpiece of the book is West of the Rockies, a haunting short novel, set in the late 1950s, about a half-mad woman, immature and incapable, who is, almost despite herself, a star, a quantity indefinable, ephemeral, everlastingly elusive-Hollywood's chief stock in trade. It is also a bitter portrait of the star's agent, a grifter who is tempted to use her and her weaknesses to his own ends. Fuchs loved Hollywood, but his affection didn't blind him to the town's Babylon aspect: he never blinked when depicting the conniving and the treachery, the dysfunction and the waste. He saw life as it is, gold and tinsel both, and described it without falling into easy sentiment or condescending laughter. He is the Bellow of the Brown Derby, the Chekhov of the back lot. Book jacket.

The Hollywood Story Roy Pickard,1986

Stuntwomen Mollie Gregory,2015-11-19 They've traded punches in knockdown brawls, crashed biplanes through barns, and raced to the rescue in fast cars. They add suspense and drama to the story, portraying the swimmer stalked by the menacing shark, the heroine dangling twenty feet below a soaring hot air balloon, or the woman leaping nine feet over a wall to escape a dog attack. Only an expert can make such feats of daring look easy, and stuntwomen with the skills to perform -- and survive -- great moments of action in movies have been hitting their mark in Hollywood since the beginning of film. Here, Mollie Gregory presents the first history of stuntwomen in the film industry from the silent era to the twenty-first century. In the early years of motion pictures, women were highly involved in all aspects of film production, but they were marginalized as movies became popular, and more important, profitable. Capable stuntwomen were replaced by men in wigs, and very few worked between the 1930s and 1960s. As late as the 1990s, men wore wigs and women's clothes to double as actresses, and were even painted down for some performances, while men and women of color were regularly denied stunt work. For decades, stuntwomen have faced institutional discrimination, unequal pay, and sexual harassment even as they jumped from speeding trains and raced horse-drawn carriages away from burning buildings. Featuring sixty-five interviews, Stuntwomen showcases the absorbing stories and uncommon courage of women who make their living planning and performing action-packed sequences that keep viewers' hearts racing.

Make Your Story a Movie John Robert Marlow,2012-12-11 $50 Billion of Advice in One Book* Have you ever wondered why some books and stories are adapted into movies, and others aren't? Or wished you could sit down and pick the brains of the people whose stories have been adapted--or the screenwriters, producers, and directors who adapted them? Author John Robert Marlow has done it for you. He spoke to book authors, playwrights, comic book creators and publishers, as well as Hollywood screenwriters, producers and directors responsible for adapting fictional and true stories into Emmy-winning TV shows, Oscar-winning films, billion-dollar megahits and smaller independents. Then he talked to the entertainment attorneys who made the deals. He came away with a unique understanding of adaptations--an understanding he shares in this book: which stories make good source material (and why); what Hollywood wants (and doesn't); what you can (and can't) get in a movie deal; how to write and pitch your story to maximize the chances of a Hollywood adaptation--and how much (and when) you can expect to be paid. *This book contains the distilled experience of creators, storytellers and others whose works have earned over $50 billion worldwide. Whether you're looking to sell film rights, adapt your own story (alone or with help), or option and adapt someone else's property--this book is for you.

A Hollywood Story Jim Alexander Rice,2016-12-10 A HOLLYWOOD STORY is the true story about how one young man lived inside two major movie studios for over three years in pursuit of a show business dream. After being kicked out of the film and journalism programs two semesters shy of graduation at California State University, Long Beach with two screenplays he had written, a short film he had made and some extra clothes, at the age of twenty-seven Jim Alexander Rice jumped a blue line train from Long Beach to Hollywood. After being on the streets of Hollywood for three weeks, he maneuvered into Sunset Gower Studios by a slightly opened door and ended up living inside the historic movie lot for two months. During this time he talked his way into getting an audition from a casting agent, placing his screenplays on a major production company's desk and trying to make a few connections for subsequent work. After two months living inside a cable cubbyhole atop STAGE 1 at Sunset Gower Studios, where they filmed Who's The Boss? and From Here To Eternity, Jim was found out by Gaffers working on a new production. Chased off the lot by armed guards, he decided to jump the fence of Paramount Studios in an act of desperation where he would live for the next THREE YEARS chasing his dream. He survived by eating from the craft service tables of various TV shows like: Becker, Roswell, Judging Amy, The Amanda Show, Frasier, Buffy The Vampire Slayer, various failed TV pilots and the movie, 15 Minutes, to name just a few. During this time, his dire quest took many strange turns, as he met various TV, film actors and show business millionaires. He slept in an outdoor ivy-covered catwalk attached to Star Trek: Voyager, but after being found out there by landscapers, he snuck into the catwalks of STAGE 30, where they filmed the TV show Soul Train. He survived all of this time by acting like he worked at various places throughout the lot, but he soon realized that he was acting to merely survive, rather than to receive a paycheck. Keeping these so-called, roles, or personas in the air for the personalities and the powers that be, while trying to find real work and a niche towards his dream proved to be a challenge like no other. A Hollywood Story is a true story.

Hallelujah! in Hollywood Shaytee Gadson,2012-08-01 It's hard to believe that one family can endure so much and still survive. But, that's exactly what the Gadson family did amidst their life in Hollywood. It's not the Hollywood one might think but it certainly has all the same characteristics - plots, drugs, politics, sex, characters and yes, even the press and attention. Welcome to Hollywood, South Carolina, a far-from-quiet little town with a larger than life name. Shaytee Gadson vividly and honestly tells his family's life story - sharing intimate details about his alcoholic father who rises from the ashes of poverty to become mayor of his hometown. Gadson opens up about a life surrounded by constant fire and brimstone, scandal and prayer. His mother, the First Lady of Hollywood, prays her way through life while using every ounce of faith to try and save her husband and those in need around her. Gadson's recollection of his younger days captures your heart as he paints an uncomfortable picture of a young boy's quest to understand the adulterous relationships, politics and sin that surround him. Even though selfish addiction demons penetrate this Hollywood family, somehow Gadson manages to make a better life for himself and his daughters. His father ends up being banned from his own hometown. His mother cheats the face of death more than once and Gadson himself shares what it feels like to have loved and lost - all while the power of his mother's prayer saves him and his family.

Hollywood Stories Stephen Schochet,2010-06 2012 Global Ebook Award Winner - Entertainment and Performing Arts Non-Fiction A WILD, FUN RIDE THROUGH TINSEL TOWN, PAST AND PRESENT! -- Jan Wahl, KCBS AM/FM & KRON-TV At high noon on a cold November day in 1974, sixty-seven-year-old John Wayne faced off with the staff of the Harvard Lampoon on the famous campus in Cambridge, Massachusetts. The students had issued their challenge by calling the beloved American icon a fraud. Wayne, who had his new movie McQ to promote, responded by saying he would be happy to show his film in the pseudo-intellectual swamps of Harvard Square. After the screening, without writers, the former USC footballer delivered a classic performance. When one smart young man asked where he got his phony toupee, Wayne insisted the hair was real. It wasn't his, but it was real. The appreciative underclassmen loved him and after the Q and A session, they all sat down to dinner. Later Wayne, who was suffering greatly from both gout and the after effects of lung cancer (sadly the Duke only had five years to live), said that day at Harvard was the best time he ever had. Primetime Propaganda Ben Shapiro,2011-05-31 “Vitaly important, devastatingly thorough, and shockingly revealing.... After reading Primetime Propaganda, you’ll never watch TV the same way again.” –Mark Levin Movie critic Michael Medved calls Ben Shapiro, “One of our most refreshing and insightful voices on the popular culture, as well as a conscience for his much-maligned generation.” With Primetime Propaganda, the syndicated columnist and bestselling author of Brainwashed, Porn Generation, and Project President tells the shocking true story of how the most powerful medium of mass communication in human history became a vehicle for spreading the radical agenda of the left side of the political spectrum. Similar to what Bernard Goldberg’s Bias and A Slobbering Love Affair did for the liberal news machine, Shapiro’s Primetime Propaganda is an essential exposé of corrupting media bias, pulling back the curtain on widespread and unrepentant abuses of the Hollywood entertainment industry.
