This is War! ,1942 This is War! was a bellwether. As the first series of radio programs-- and the only one-- to be carried by all four nationwide networks, it was a unique experiment in American broadcasting. And it pioneered in wartime propaganda, during the first frantic months of the national emergency, in that it was the first series to attempt to present and elucidate national policies to the country, and at the same time to arouse and unify the people emotionally. The series was broadcast each Saturday night for 13 weeks, beginning February 14, 1942, over approximately 600 radio stations in America.--Introduction.

Camilla Macaulay is a beautiful and intelligent young woman who is drawn to the power and danger of the Classics Club. The students are all deeply in love with Morrow, and they are willing to do anything to please him.
