Confessions and Declarations of Multicolored Men Frederick Douglass Alcorn, 2020-10-06 This book is a culturally situated study of the experiences and perspective garnered from of a group of post-secondary Black African American, bi-multi-racial male students aged 19-37. The undergirding interest was to see if there was an awareness of the group's manly inclinations, tendencies and predispositions and understand how such awareness projects and influences their quest and discipline for learning and to academically achieve. The sociological construct of habitus, as conveyor of dispositions, inclinations, and tendencies, provides an analytical framework permitting an appreciation of interactions between personal identity, social belonging and approaches to learning and education. The result is an original and powerful account of the ways in which unspoken dominant mainstream intergroup cultural relationships, involving social-political attitudes, decision making, and behavioral reactions and responses, interact with internalized self-in-group or in ascription with group, oppression, repression, intellectual-cognitive-physical strategies, determination, and work, that have brought men of Black African American, bi-multi-racial descent, in the U.S., to their current social position. Unlike some public discourse in U.S. society, this is not a blame game, nor is it one of relinquishing self or group responsibility, but one based upon and motivated by a deeper understanding of complex facts. The prose can be best described as an ethnographical narrative, synthesizing a wealth of original observations with insights from scholarly and popular literature and media. Its original and engaging style may appeal to a broad audience including postsecondary educators and students, researchers studying the sociology of gender, African American identity, intercultural relational communications, student services, social work, and social psychology as well as mental and physical healthcare practitioners.

The Multicolored Magical Robe Barbara Deloris Walker, 2009 What secret lurks beneath the mind of Azzure Pleasant? Hidden powers that had lain dormant for centuries, finally awakens after she stumbles upon a secret letter left behind from her ancient parents King Wixul and Queen Twazexol. Will she complete the require mission and get the rewards promised her? Take the journey with Azzure and her son Graxseiv into the secret realms where no man dares to go. Seeking for truth from the materialization of the surprise letter, Azzure sets out on an unusual journey through a maze of wonders encountering strange beings that emerges out of the mists of unknown territories. Orange trees holding diamonds, drops bits and pieces of sparkling stones along the path for her to tread. Magical whooshing sound of Welcome echoes through the thin veil in a tone of musical notes, as a multicolored robe mysteriously appears on Azzure s body as well as a multicolored slipper. After she grabs a set of seven keys, Azzure encounters a wonder world of giants, ghosts and colorful skies. _____ Excerpt After informing the staff not to disturb them under any circumstance, they arrived upstairs after Graxseiv cleaned up the broken glasses and spilled orange juice. Behind the clothes-rack, stood a hidden room with soundproof steel walls, a computer, two expensive surveillance cameras, and one hundred percent guaranteed protection. Azzure carried her briefcase and plunked it on the table, flipping it open. She pulled out the letter she had shown to her daughter-in-law before they left for the trip downtown then she grabbed the gold framed diploma that said: With These Magical Gifts Joyously Created Azzure Pleasant Invites all men to Onque s Academy of Multicolored Kingdom as students interested in learning to bring forth their hidden powers at their own pace for one hour until completion Brother of the Ninth Degree in the Onqueian Brotherhood Welcome Graxseiv let the words settle into his mind. Then, he saw the presents his mother had waited twenty-four years to give to him magically materializing. He was speechless. His hands started shaking. Rainbow colored rays suddenly appeared at the tip of his fingers, each merging. Until it took on a crescent-shaped curve, that landed on the floor, and caused him to jump back in shock. Graxseiv noticed his mother staring at him, and felt his eyes glancing at her jaws, which had dropped. An antique gold mirror had suddenly popped up in front of him, Graxseiv gawked at the rainbow colored halo overshadowing his head and stared at his physical body, which had taken on a form, entirely different from what he looked like a few minutes earlier. He was transparent, like a dark shadow lurking behind human beings from the shining sun at high noon.

Multicolored Memories of a Black Southern Girl Kitty Oliver, 2021-12-14 A telling memoir by an exciting new voice, Multicolored Memories of a Black Southern Girl explores journalist Kitty Oliver's coming of age as she makes the crossing from an all-black to a predominantly white world. Born and raised in an all-black area of Jacksonville, Florida, Oliver was one of the first African American freshmen to enter the University of Florida. Though she chronicles the strains of her transition from Jim Crow to desegregation, this book is much more than a memoir of the turbulent sixties. It is an upbeat journal of self-discovery in the aftermath of that decade, a look at one woman's coming to terms with living an integrated life in America. With humor, poignancy, and lyrical language (reminiscent at times of another Florida writer, Zora Neale Hurston), Oliver shares her passage from the old world to the new—an immigrant's journey indicative of the American experience. Blending past and present, she searches for roots from the Gullah or Geechee culture of South Carolina to the urban streets of northern Florida to the multicultural mix of South Florida's diverse ethnic cultures, serving up family stories with large helpings of southern folktalk, food, and music along the way.

Encyclopedia of Invasive Species [2 volumes] Susan L. Woodward, Joyce A. Quinn, 2011-09-22 This two-volume set provides a one-stop resource on invasive plants, animals, fungi, and microorganisms that are threatening native ecosystems, agriculture, economies, and human health in the United States. Kudzu vine and field bindweed. Eurasian collared-doves, Burmese pythons, and black rats. The northern snakehead and the gypsy moth. All of these are examples of invasive species that have taken over or are threatening certain ecosystems—places where these organisms never naturally occurred. This two-volume work contains 168 entries on plants, animals, fungi, and microorganisms that are invasive in the United States, providing a complete examination of the variety of organisms, pathways, distribution patterns, and impacts of non-native species introduced to this country. Encyclopedia of Invasive Species: From Africanized Honey Bees to Zebra Mussels begins with a background essay that illuminates the complexities of dealing with invasive animals and plants. Each entry provides information on the origins and invasion history of the species in question as well as a general description of the biology and ecology of each organism. Impacts—actual and potential, as well as management strategies—are addressed. Every species is depicted via photographs as well as maps that show its place of origin and invaded regions in the United States. This unique work presents fascinating scientific information as well as valuable insights about how seemingly minor events can drastically alter our environment.

Mind and Its World 1 Sourcebook Dzogchen Ponlop Rinpoche, Khenpo Tsültrim Gyamtso Rinpoche, Āchārya Lama Tenpa Gyaltzen, Āchārya Sherab Gyaltzen, 2021-01-23 Mind and Its World I begins a detailed analysis of the subjective side of experience. It examines mind and how it perceives its world in valid and invalid ways based on the Classifications of Mind, which provides divisions and definitions of the types of mind identified in the epistemological tradition of Dignaga and Dharmakirti. The key point is the discernment of the aspects of mind that validly perceive things the way they are, which are distinguished from those aspects of mind that are mistaken and tainted by fundamental delusion, and thus keep one bound in samsara. It also introduces the two Hinayana philosophical systems, the Vaibhashika and Sautrantika schools, covering the two truths and the process of perception. Selected readings, analytical meditations, study questions, review summaries are included in the sourcebook.

A Methodology for Developing Multimodal User Interfaces of Information Systems Adrian Stanciulescu, 2008 The Graphical User Interface (GUI), as the most prevailing type of User Interface (UI) in today's interactive applications, restricts the interaction with a computer to the visual modality and is therefore not suited for some users (e.g., with limited literacy or typing skills), in some circumstances (e.g., while moving around, with their hands or eyes busy) or when the environment is constrained (e.g., the keyboard and the mouse are not available). In order to go beyond the GUI constraints, the Multimodal (MM) UIs appear as paradigm that provide users with great expressive power, naturalness and flexibility. In this thesis we argue that developing MM UIs combining graphical and vocal modalities is an activity that could benefit from the application of a methodology which is composed of: a set of models, a method manipulating these models and the tools implementing the method. Therefore, we define a design space-based method that is supported by model-to-model colored transformations in order to obtain MM UIs of information systems. The design space is composed of explicitly defined design options that clarify the development process in a structured way in order to require less design effort. The feasibility of the methodology is demonstrated through three case studies with different levels of complexity and coverage. In addition, an empirical study is conducted with end-users in order to measure the relative usability level provided by different design decisions.
