Paper Stories - Paper and Book History in Early Modern Europe Silvia Hufnagel,Pórunn Sigurðardóttir,Davíð Ólafsson,2023-04-26 This peer-reviewed conference volume examines paper and material aspects of the written word in early modern Europe. The collection is designed around three thematic strands, based on the lifecycle of handwritten documents and manuscripts and printed books: first, production of paper, second production of books and manuscripts and third, trade and exchange, and ownership of manuscripts and books. By tracing the history of paper, books and collections through case studies of historically important objects, the authors identify agents and hotspots of production, trade and ownership from both centres and peripheries of Europe from the late Middle Ages until the beginning of industrialisation. They thereby address material aspects of documents, manuscripts and books, as well as object biography, from an interdisciplinary viewpoint. By doing so this volume provides insight into actual practices of the past and the material history of written texts.

Discovering New Facts about Paper Waldemar Kaempffert,1920 This is the first of a series of books to be issued by the American Writing Paper Company on the scientific studies and investigations of the Department of Technological Control. Even while this volume was in preparation for the press old problems that had long baffled the paper-maker were solved, new problems were presented for solution, new discoveries of vast importance were made, and new processes were introduced into the mills. So rapid and continuous is the progress made by the Research and Development Division that only by the publication of books such as this, from time to time, can the developments be announced--Page opposite title page.

Billy Budd & Other Stories Herman Melville,1998 Stung by the critical reception and lack of commercial success of his previous two works, Moby-Dick and Pierre, Herman Melville became obsessed with the difficulties of communicating his vision to readers. His sense of isolation lies at the heart of these later works. Billy Budd, Sailor, a classic confrontation between good and evil, is the story of an innocent young man unable to defend himself against a wrongful accusation. The other selections here-Bartleby, The Encantadas, Benito Cereno, and The Piazza-also illuminate, in varying guises, the way fictions are created and shared with a wider society. In his introduction Frederick Busch discusses Melville's preoccupation with his correspondence with the world, his quarrel with silence, and why fiction was, for Melville, a matter of life and death. The Lee Bros. Southern Cookbook: Stories and Recipes for Southerners and Would-be Southerners Matt Lee,Ted Lee,2006-10-17 You don't have to be southern to cook southern. From the New York Times food writers who defended lard and demystified gumbo comes a collection of exceptional southern recipes for everyday cooks. The Lee Bros. Southern Cookbook tells the story of the brothers' culinary coming-of-age in Charleston—how they triumphed over their northern roots and learned to cook southern without a southern grandmother. Here are recipes for classics like Fried Chicken, Crab Cakes, and Pecan Pie, as well as little-known preparations such as St. Cecilia Punch, Pickled Peaches, and Shrimp Burgers. Others bear the hallmark of the brothers' resourceful cooking style—simple, sophisticated dishes like Blackened Potato Salad, Saigon Hoppin' John, and Buttermilk-Sweet Potato Pie that usher southern cooking into the twenty-first century without losing sight of its roots. With helpful sourcing and substitution tips, this is a practical and personal guide that will have readers cooking southern tonight, wherever they live.
