(Re-)Claiming Bodies Through Fashion and Style Viola Thimm, 2021-07-05 This book investigates ways of dressing, style and fashion as gendered and embodied, but equally as “religionized” phenomena, particularly focusing on one significant world religion: Islam. Through their clothing, Muslims negotiate concepts and interpretations of Islam and construct their intersectionally interwoven position in the world. Taking the interlinkages between ‘fashionized religion,’ ‘religionized fashion,’ commercialization and processes of feminization as a starting point, this book reshapes our understanding of gendered forms of religiosity and spirituality through the lens of gender and embodiment. Focusing mainly on the agency and creativity of women as they appropriate ways of performing and interpreting various modalities of Muslim clothing and body practices, the book investigates how these social actors deal with empowering conditions as well as restrictive situations. Foregrounding contemporary scholars’ diverse disciplinary, theoretical and methodological approaches, this book problematizes and complicates the discursive and lived interactions and intersections between gender, fashion, spirituality, religion, class, and ethnicity. It will be relevant to a broad audience of researchers across gender, sociology of religion, Islamic and fashion studies.

The Grace of Four Moons Pravina Shukla, 2015-10-16 Because clothing, food, and shelter are basic human needs, they provide excellent entries to cultural values and individual aesthetics. Everyone gets dressed every day, but body art has not received the attention it deserves as the most common and universal of material expressions of culture. The Grace of Four Moons aims to document the clothing decisions made by ordinary people in their everyday lives. Based on fieldwork conducted primarily in the city of Banaras, India, Pravina Shukla conceptualizes and realizes a total model for the study of body art—understood as all aesthetic modifications and supplementations to the body. Shukla urges the study of the entire process of body art, from the assembly of raw materials and the manufacture of objects, through their sale and the interactions between merchants and consumers, to the consumer's use of objects in creating personal decoration.

Besmirched God Binay Pathak, 2013-12 Excerpts from the novel: - There are many such acts in India which are restricted in the books of law only. Dowry act is one of them. Indians are very ahead in making laws. So many laws are there in country in every field and ironically lawlessness is prevalent everywhere. Laws and acts relating to consumers are perhaps the biggest one in India but what is the position of consumers, everyone knows. This is the country where milk is being prepared from detergent and urea. This is the country where restricted medicine is sold unrestrictedly. This is the country where grains, sweets all contain cancerous elements. This is the country where spiritual babas are doing heinous crimes like rape with minors. This is the country where top leaders are indulged in bribery and other heinous scams and remain out of clutch of law. The long hands of law are unable to eradicate child marriage completely. In many child marriage cases grooms have turned vagabond whereas brides turned well educated. How an educated girl can accept a tramp or truant his life partner? But they have to do so in the name of tradition, society, culture and other things.

Artifacts of the Ages: Rings J. D. Wiker,Gary Astleford,2006-07-11 The greatest tales of epic fantasy sometimes begin with a humble little bauble: a gem with mysterious powers, an amulet with a terrible curse ...or a ring that renders the wearer invisible. As the story goes on, though, these amazing items gradually reveal the full extent of their powers--and, often, the true nature of their destinies. Continuing the rules developed in Artifacts of the Ages: Swords and Staves, this book presents magic gems and jewelry that grow in power as wielders advance in level, allowing you to introduce artifact-caliber magic items to your campaign without giving the player characters too much power too early. Artifacts of the Ages: Rings provides gamemasters with rules for not just rings, but necklaces, bracelets, crowns, gems, and other such items of extraordinary power. Artifacts of the Ages: Rings is the second in a series of innovative sourcebooks examining new ways to treat magic items in fantasy d20

System campaigns.
