A Steady Storm of Correspondence Gwen Harwood,2001 Gwen Harwood has long been recognised as one of Australia's finest poets and librettists. She had a quicksilver intellect and a rare ability to go directly to the heart of whatever occupied her. Generosity of spirit, biting wit, and a superb command of a language characterise both her poetry and her letters to friends. The letters in this edition - written between 1943 and her death in 1995 - present a strong claim that Gwen Harwood be considered this country's greatest letter-writer. The selection includes less than one-tenth of the letters transcribed by her biographer Gregory Kratzmann. Half of the letters here were written to her good friend Tony Riddell, to whom she dedicated all but the last of her volumes of poetry. Her correspondents include major figures from the fields of literature, art and music in Australia, and her love of letter-writing shows the value she accorded to friendship.

Destiny's Song Sephiroth,2006-01-01 Feathers of white, feathers of black: all drifting in the dark by a faint howling wind. And from this wind two figures emerge, each holding a power that will decided the very fate of their dreams, where one seeks to conquer, the other. to protect. The survivor of a forgotten world, Sefira is burdened to protect a universe threatened by a man that once destroyed her home. When concerning love, is who you choose to love half as important as how you choose to love them? Chairi faces this and many other questions as she finds a fulfillment in her heart for a man she barely knows. A young girl on Myran whose abilities are beyond that of a normal human, bordering with legends of magic, brings hope to her people as she stands with Sefira and Chairi against a terrible enemy that is determined to destroy them all. Darkness is on the horizon as the armadas of man stand against an undead race of warriors in a galactic battle of force to decide who will inherit the future. And Rickter Etrenak brings with him more than a ship to lend a hand when he sees the life of the woman he loves threatened by the deadly grasp of the galaxy's most ruthless tyrant. Where magic and technology collide, fear and love pivot the center of Sefira's ultimate decision. Will she use Tifareth to defeat her enemy: a weapon that when last she used, destroyed half the outer verse?
