Roots and Fences Sharon Gregory Duncan Edd,2013-07 Meet Jackie, Chuck, Jonathon, and Jamee-four people intricately linked by the common thread of disability. Roots and Fences tells of their life experiences, as well as their friends and families, from a phenomenological perspective. It's a compelling collection that exposes the reality of life for those with intellectual disabilities and the people who love them. Through these connective stories spanning over 50 years, you will laugh, cry, share in the adventures, meet the families, and perhaps even change your views about those who are labeled disabled. As I read, I felt I was reading something epic. Sharon calls it generational. She seems to be in the ideal location to witness all these stories of disability and how they progressed to more positive outcomes. The story starts with Jackie in 1937, then moves through the '60s with Chuck and continues to the present with Jonathon and Jamee. Through all the stories an epic meta-story takes form. - Adam Baez, Special Educator. Instructive and entertaining, Roots and Fences takes us to a place inside families that encourages us to consider possibilities rather than focus on limitations. Along the way, we are saddened, angered, amused, touched, uplifted, and empowered. Above all, we find reasons to be optimistic about the future of people with disabilities.-Tom Mihail, PhD, Chair of Special Education, Graduate Studies in Education, Purdue University Calumet.

The Lavender Butterfly Murders Sharon Duncan,2005 Frustrated by her deteriorating love life and the return of a long-absent ex-husband, Scotia MacKinnon opts for seven days of tranquility at a retreat on neighboring Santa Monica Island. But all hopes of finding peace are dashed when Scotia becomes embroiled in a nasty struggle between the spa's innkeeper and her rustic neighbors, a series of accidents, and what looks like murder. Looks like Scotia has found herself the vacation from hell! With three marriages and twenty years of law enforcement under her belt, if anyone can pick up the pieces of clues left behind, it would be Scotia MacKinnon. Sharon Duncan is a recognized linguistic scholar, former university instructor, and language test developer, who has turned to mystery writing. She is also an accomplished sailor who divides her time between Washington State's San Juan Islands and hideaway on the Gulf of Mexico.

Death on a Casual Friday Sharon Duncan,2001 She has a sailboat docked on San Juan Island, a maritime attorney for a lover, and flourishing career as a private eye. Life is as good as it gets for Scotia MacKinnon. But there's that destiny thing. This time her name's Elyse Montenegro, a paranoid beauty claiming to be stalked.

The Dead Wives Society Sharon Duncan,2003 Scotia's latest client was done wrong by her husband, who stole all of her assets. Scotia learns that this handsome devil has a history of scamming wealthy women. When his ex-wives start turning up dead, Scotia must stop this serial groom before her client ends up in the morgue. Original.

A Deep Blue Farewell Sharon Duncan,2002 Scotia MacKinnon's new client doesn't believe his sister's death was a freak accident. But with no body and no clues, authorities decide Tina Breckinridge, a sailing instructor, must have drowned. Scotia senses foul play, but she and her assistant Zelda follow dead ends. They are ready to give up, but little do they know their problems have only just begun. (August)

The Hunt Jan Neuharth,2005-09-28 The complex and romanticized lifestyle of elite fox hunters is revealed in this thrilling murder mystery. An attractive and wealthy lawyer and horseman, Doug Cummings personifies the old-money equine subculture of Middleburg, Virginia. Driven to succeed, Cummings's climb to the top is halted when he becomes the target of a twisted scheme to frame him for the murders of his former lover and horse groom. As Cummings attempts to find the true culprits, the conflicting forces of his community offer a revealing look at how vengeance, love, and envy obscure the search for truth and justice.

Played in Britain Kate Dorney,Frances Gray,2013-05-14 Published in collaboration with the Victoria & Albert Musuem, Played in Britain: Modern Theatre in 100 Plays explores the best and most influential plays from 1945 to date. Fully illustrated with photos from the V&A's collections and featuring a foreword by Richard Griffiths O.B.E., the book provides a sumptuous treat for theatre-lovers. It was awarded the 2014 David Bradby Award for research by the Theatre and Performance Research Association. Opening with J. B. Priestley's classic play from 1946, An Inspector Calls, and ending with Laura Wade's examination of class privilege and moral turpitude in Posh over sixty years later, Played in Britain offers a visual history of post-war theatre on the British stage. Arranged chronologically the featured plays illustrate and respond to a number of themes that animate post-war society: censorship and controversy; race and immigration; gender and sexuality; money and politics. An essay on each period first sets the context and explores trends, while the commentary accompanying each play illuminates the plot and themes, considers its original reception and subsequent afterlife, and finishes by suggesting other plays to explore. Photographs from the V&A's extensive collection illustrate each play, providing further insight into stage and costume designs, and include iconic images from the premieres of major plays such as Waiting for Godot and Look Back in Anger. Illustrated throughout with stage production photography, Played in Britain: Modern Theatre in 100 Plays presents a unique and visually stunning panorama of key dramatic works produced in Britain over the past seventy years. From An Inspector Calls to The Rocky Horror Show, or Abigail's Party to Waiting for Godot, fresh light is thrown on the impact, aesthetics and essence of these key plays.
