Salud mental y medicina tradicional de las comunidades ancestrales Pijaos del Tolima en contextos de violencia Heiman Nupan-Criollo,Jorge Armando Sanabria González,Helmer Chacón Peralta,2022-09-28 Cambiar el ángulo de mirada frente a la problemática de la salud mental, como en otras cuestiones sociales, es urgente. Lo es salir de la postura lineal y antropocéntrica que termina responsabilizando al individuo de su desequilibrio para pasar a buscar en su complejidad la armonización colectiva, humana y no humana, ecológica, cósmica. Este libro-fruto es, como lo puede identificar el lector, interdisciplinar y polifónico. Es un tejido donde se hilvanan psicología, antropología, sociología, política e historia, entre otros sistemas de conocimientos y saberes. Este texto es un testimonio de las voces silenciadas y los saberes y haceres vituperados de las comunidades ancestrales del sur del Tolima, pero, a la vez, es una prueba de la vida, sabiduría y resistencia de los indomables Pijaos.

Canciones tradicionales españolas ,2011 Canciones tradicionales son las que llegan a identificarse de tal manera con la idiosincrasia de un país o de un ámbito regional que se transmiten oralmente de generación en generación y se hacen del pueblo o, mejor, el pueblo las hace suyas. Evidentemente tienen un autor primigenio y una fecha de composición, pero este traspase generacional contribuye a que ambos se diluyan en el tiempo. Así pues, las canciones tradicionales son auténticas joyas históricas que trascienden la individualidad de su autor y su tiempo originario para identificarse con lo más profundo del conocimiento popular.

Apropiación indebida de recursos genéticos, biodiversidad y conocimientos tradicionales: "biopiratería" Carlos Ernesto Restrepo Orrego,2006-01-02

Este trabajo tiene el propósito de exponer sistemáticamente todo lo relacionado con la biopiratería, ofrecer diversos conceptos y acercar una definición, mostrar cómo funciona, cuáles son sus elementos, sus etapas, sus modalidades, identificar el papel que juegan en su proceso los distintos intervenientes, la legislación internacional, regional y local en materia de comercio, propiedad intelectual, diversidad natural y los conocimientos tradicionales de comunidades locales e indígenas asociados a ella; los roles que juegan los países industrializados frente a los países en vías de desarrollo y la importancia de la biotecnología y los organismos transgénicos en el proceso de la biopiratería. Con el desarrollo del análisis anterior, se busca esclarecer otro problema jurídico: ¿Es suficiente la normatividad actual para evitar o contrarrestar la denominada biopiratería? Esta investigación se realizó desde comienzos de 2002 y finalizó en 2004, contando con la valiosa colaboración de diversas comunidades indígenas del Putumayo, especialmente de los Cofán, cuyos principales líderes y taitas compartieron de manera desinteresada su visión indígena de cómo los afecta este fenómeno especialmente con respecto a sus conocimientos ancestrales medicinales y agrícolas. Creole Societies in the Portuguese Colonial Empire Philip J. Havik,Malyn Newitt,2015-10-13 In 2004, a conference was held at King's College London to commemorate the centenary of the birth of Charles Boxer. The theme of the conference was the development of the culturally mixed 'Portuguese' societies in Asia, Africa and America, which reflected Boxer's own interest in the social history of Portugal's overseas empire. Although the conference papers were published by Bristol University, this volume is long out of print and the outstanding quality of many of the contributions has made it necessary for this collection to be republished. Portuguese overseas expansion over a period of five centuries led to the formation of many mixed or creole communities which drew culturally not only on Portugal, but also on indigenous societies. This cross-cultural interaction gave rise to a creole ‘Portuguese’ identity that in many cases outlasted the formal empire itself. Reflecting upon the main tenets of Boxer’s work, this collection provides a broad geographical perspective upon areas of Portuguese presence in Guinea, Cape Verde, Angola, São Tomé, Brazil and Goa. The chapters cover a wide range of social strata, including plantation slave and maroon communities, private settler-traders and pirates, indigenous trade-diasporas, and Luso-African, Luso-Brazilian and Afro-Brazilian groups, as well as the formation of Creole elites against the background of shifting racial, gender, ethnic, linguistic and religious boundaries. As such, this collection represents an exercise in ‘subaltern’ history which shows that the informal social relations were often more important in the long term than the formal structures of empire.

The Shade of New Leaves Manfred O. Hinz, Helgard K. Patemann, 2006 Omudile muua ohapo; epangelo liua ohamba. Freely translated, this proverb of the Ovakwanyama of northern Namibia means: New leaves produce a good shade; the laws of a king are always as good as new. The proverb paints a picture of wisdom to express the dialectical relationship between continuity and change in customary law. Since royal orders are supposed not to change from one king to the next, they are always as good as new, reads the explanatory note to the proverb by the anthropologist Loeb, who recorded the proverb. Traditional authority is like a tree standing on its roots, rooted in the tradition created by the ancestors of the ruler and the community. These roots remain firm, stable and unchanged, not so the concrete manifestation of authority that changes and responds to changes of the environment. This makes that new leaves are produced by the rooted tree. The new leaves are new and old. They are old, because in structure, colour and their capacity to protect by giving shade, they are more or less like the leaves of last year and the year before; they are new because they react to the challenge of seasons. The Shade of New Leaves emerged out of an international conference on the living reality of customary law and traditional governance held in Windhoek in 2004. The conference was organised by the Centre for Applied Social Sciences and the Human Rights and Documentation Centre, both affiliated to the Faculty of Law of the University of Namibia, in co-operation with the Law Departments of the Universities of Bremen, Germany, and the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London. The contributions to this book are grouped into six parts: Part

1: Legal pluralism, traditional governance and the challenge of the democratic constitutional order * Part 2: Traditional administration of justice revisited *

Part 3: Ascertaining customary law: prerequisite of good governance in traditional authority * Part 4: Legal philosophy, African philosophy and African jurisprudence * Part 5: Research, training and teaching of customary law * Part 6: Afterthoughts

Propiedad intelectual sobre los conocimientos tradicionales agrícolas Iván, Vargas-Chaves,Gloria Amparo, Rodríguez,Heidy, Blumenkranc,2020-03-31 Este libro hace una caracterización del conocimiento tradicional agrícola, considerado como un tipo de saber tradicional propio de las comunidades que lo han desarrollado, practicado y transmitido durante generaciones. La propuesta conceptual se aborda en relación con la protección y preservación respecto al conjunto de experiencias y técnicas agrícolas tradicionales. Para lo cual, en primera instancia, se exponen el estado actual de este tipo de conocimientos, con sus avances, retrocesos y amenazas desde el contexto de la soberanía alimentaria y la preservación de la identidad cultural. Se proponen, además, como soluciones de fortalecimiento la participación en la distribución justa y equitativa de beneficios, la consulta previa como mecanismo de acceso y, por último, se desarrollan una serie de lineamientos para una incidencia efectiva en la toma de decisiones.
