Volkswagen Type 4 - 411 and 412 Marc Cranswick,2020-06-16 What kind of car is that? It looks like a big Beetle! If ever there was a car in search of a context and market, it was the VW Type 4. Volkswagen's first foray into the upscale sector brought engineering innovation to Wolfsburg. It also tried to convince worldwide buyers that VW still had the right stuff. With design origins in the Porsche consultancy, the signs were hopeful. However, globally, the automarket was rapidly changing. The VW Type 4's portfolio ran to unitary construction and fuel injection, but had to face fancy competition from Detroit's European subsidiaries. All the while, VW was searching for its future road, and faced challenging developments. The fuel crisis and Japanese competition in North America kept the pressure on at Wolfsburg. Could the VW 411 and 412's solid traditional virtues carry the day? Then and now the Type 4's unbreakable VW quality, and flat out sustainability, appealed to air cooled devotees. The 411 and 412 brought a new dimension in comfort to VW, and its hardware design was utilized by the air cooled clan both on and off road. The Type 4 even had a sports car connection, and never lost the power to surprise.

Marketing Strategy of New Beetle ,2005-05-17 Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject Business economics - Miscellaneous, grade: 1.0, Robert Gordon University Aberdeen, 13 entries in the bibliography, language: English, abstract: The automobile industry is a very dynamic and exciting example of the development of new products. Against the background of the legendary Beetle, who sold over 21.6 million times, Volkswagen decided to build a new, modern version of the car. The target market for the New Beetle was defined as the Baby Boomers and the Young Generation which declares a main difference between the two cars. As the old one was a car for the people, the new one was for the chosen people who earn enough money. With total costs of $ 590 million the product development process ended in 1998 when the car was launched to the American market first. It met with success there but costumers in Europe reacted differently when it was introduced a few months later. The unique design of a fun car was not the main attraction for Europeans to buy the car and the price was not accepted over here as in America. But accompanied by a huge marketing strategy, with the main goal of arousing emotions, Volkswagen achieved their objectives altogether. Volkswagen sold over 600,000 New Beetles from 1998 to 2003 and raised the brand awareness at the same time. Due to the crisis on the automotive market at the moment and the market caution I would recommend Volkswagen reconsider the price level of the car and they may be able to achieve higher sales outside America.

Things that Go! Judith Conaway,1987 Provides directions for making seventeen toy boats, cars, and planes, including such special vehicles as a milk-carton ferryboat and a toothpaste-box airplane.

Colorful, creative, and fun as the Beetle itself, this book covers the whole spectrum of Beetle history. Over 60 color pictures and diagrams throughout.
