House of Pictures Elizabeth A. Bernays,2009-12 This book is a personal view of the significance of art using a series of essays, each relating to a particular painting in the author's Arizona home. The pictures engender elements of love and science, work and travel, loss and leisure, but the consistent theme throughout the book is the meaning of home - what and where is home for so many in the world who move and settle in different places? Finally, what is art for, and how do pictures become an integral part of a home? Elizabeth Bernays grew up in Australia then studied agricultural pests in developing countries. After being professor of entomology at the University of California Berkeley and Regents' professor at the University of Arizona, she also obtained a MFA in creative writing. She publishes in a variety of literary journals and has won several awards including the 2007 X.J. Kennedy nonfiction prize for Flying with Lepidoptera. Website: elizabethbernays.com.

In the Neighborhood Peter Lovenheim,2010-04-06 Based on a popular New York Times Op-Ed piece, this is the quirky, heartfelt account of one man's quest to meet his neighbors--and find a sense of community. **As seen in Parade, USA Today, The Washington Post, The Chicago Sun-Times, and more. **Winner of the Zocalo Square Book Prize, and recently named a first selection by Action Book Club. It's impossible to read this book without feeling the urge to knock on neighbors' doors. -Chicago Sun-Times Journalist and author Peter Lovenheim lived on the same street in suburban Rochester, NY, most of his life. But it was only after a brutal murder-suicide rocked the community that he was struck by a fact of modern life in this comfortable enclave: No one knew anyone else. Thus begins Peter's search to meet and get to know his neighbors. An inquisitive person, he does more than just introduce himself. He asks, ever so politely, if he can sleep over. In this smart, engaging, and deeply felt book, Lovenheim takes readers inside the homes, minds, and hearts of his neighbors and asks a thought-provoking question: Do neighborhoods matter--and is something lost when we live among strangers?

Preventing the Next Mortgage Crisis Dan Immergluck,2015-08-20 The great U.S. mortgage crisis was a transformative event that will reverberate for decades across families, neighborhoods, and cities. After years of research on various aspects of the crisis, Dan Immergluck examines what went wrong, identifying the factors that created the fragile housing finance system, which provided fertile ground for calamity. He also examines the federal response to the crisis, including who benefitted most from the response, and how a more effective and fair response could have been formulated. To reduce the incidence of future crises, Immergluck provides a pathway for building a more stable and fair housing finance system that would be less vulnerable to the booms and busts of global finance. Housing finance helps determine access to stable, decent-quality, affordable housing and also affects the geography of housing and educational opportunities. Thus, housing markets shape our communities, our neighborhoods, and our social and economic opportunities. Immergluck's analysis and formulation of a way forward will be of particular interest to those concerned with urban form, neighborhood change and stability, and urban planning and policy, as well as those interested in housing and mortgage markets more generally.
